Death Penalty Action Due

West Virginia Legislators Head Into Home Stretch

CHARLESTON (AP) — Action on death penalty repeal and a proposed state wages-and-hours law topped a crowded agenda today as the West Virginia Legislature headed into the final two weeks of its 60-day session.

Wednesday will be the 50th day and the last for routine introduction of bills. Introduction of a bill in the last 10 days requires consent by two-thirds votes in both houses.

With work piling up alarmingly, the House plans to move its daily convening hour from afternoon to 11 a. m., starting Tuesday.

A scheduled diversion today was a 2 p. m. Senate-House joint session to hear R. Sargent Shriver, director of the Office of Economic Opportunity and boss of the federal anti-poverty effort.

Shriver's appearance came on a day when the House had up for voting a bill to facilitate West Virginia participation in the anti-poverty program.

Bills calling for additional taxes on cigarettes and beer to finance operation of the West Virginia University Medical School were introduced today in the Senate and House.

ment for a stream improvement and flood control.

Form a Greenbrier County coordinating council to work with state and federal agencies on local improvement projects.

The Senate faces a decision, put off from Saturday, on whether to stand fast on its amendments to the death penalty repeal bill or yield to the House. The Senate was expected to hold out for its own version and throw the disagreement into a joint conference committee for a compromise attempt.

By wide margins, but in different forms, both houses have passed a bill to abolish capital punishment in West Virginia, which hasn't had an execution since 1959.

The issue separating the two chambers is parole. The Senate, generally considered the more conservative chamber, had taken a more liberal stand than the House on this question.

Either version would make a life prison sentence the only penalty for first-degree murder and the maximum punishment for kidnapping, rape or treason against the state. These are the crimes which, under present state law, may result in sentence to the electric chair.

Under the House bill, a jury or judge could stiffen a life sentence by forbidding parole.

The Senate threw out this option and would permit parole consideration in all cases.

The Senate has a vote pending on a bill to put mandatory retirement for state employees at age 70 into effect starting July 1, 1966. Saturday the Senate punched some holes in the bill, adopting amendments to exempt legislative employees and state officials appointed by the governor with Senate confirmation.

Amendment action and a passage vote were scheduled in the House on the wages-and-hours bill.

Amendments recommended by the House Labor Committee would soften the impact of the bill on business but would not alter the proposed $1-an-hour minimum wage.

Committee Probes Racketeer Charge

CHARLESTON — The Senate Rules Committee was scheduled to hold a hearing today on alleged efforts by racketeers to defeat a tougher anti-gambling bill.

King Urges 'Peace Talks' In Bid To Erase Violence

NEW YORK (AP) — In the wake of the quiet funeral here for the slain Malcolm X, the Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. has urged that Malcolm's followers and those of Elijah Muhammad, leader of the Black Muslims, "meet with us at the peace table."

"I am concerned over the violence and threats of violence across the nation — particularly in the Negro community since the assassination of Malcolm X," King said.

Peace has reigned in Harlem and other Negro districts here since Saturday's Muslim funeral for Malcolm X, who broke with Elijah Muhammad's Black Muslims more than a year ago and formed a rival Muslim sect.

police guard. Malcolm was buried in a cemetery in suburban Hartsdale, N.Y.

The peace conference proposed by King, Negro head of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, came after threats against Elijah Muhammad and his followers as revenge for the slaying of Malcolm X. Elijah Muhammad and leaders of his Chicago-based sect have denied any connection with the slaying.

King, Nobel Peace Prize winner, made his proposal Sunday to a congregation of more than 2,000 persons in the Victory Baptist Church in Los Angeles.

Elijah Muhammad, strongly guarded by his followers and police, told the closing session of the three-day Black Muslim convention in Chicago Sunday that the outbreak of violence among Negroes has not made him shaky.

March Lamb Elbows Lion, Gets Spotlight

The March lamb gambolled onto center stage in East Liverpool today, shoving the lion out of the spotlight, at least temporarily.

But the lion warmed up in the wings, rehearsing for a triumphal entry that folklore says will come on the last day of the month.

The lamb's entry was preceded by brilliant sunshine that sent temperatures into the mid-50's Sunday and melted all but the most persistent traces of snow from last week's storm.

The high temperatures and increased humidity brought fog to the Ohio Valley this morning.

Lamb or lion, the Tri-State District can look forward to official spring in less than three weeks. The vernal equinox falls March 20 at 3:05 p. m.

Temperatures will remain comparatively warm today, ranging upward to a high of 38 to 48, the weatherman said.

Red Chinese, Russians Rip White Paper

Document Attracts Favorable Report At Home, However

WASHINGTON (AP) — Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin and Red China have blasted the State Department's white paper on South Viet Nam, but at home the document has drawn generally favorable comment.

Kosygin, speaking at an East German government reception Sunday in Leipzig, said the department paper was "not a white book but a black book — the dirty acts of the Americans can not be recorded in a white book."

Peking chimed in that the U.S. statement was a pretext for launching new attacks against North Viet Nam.

The 14,000-word document issued Saturday charged that Communist efforts to conquer South Viet Nam are being "inspired, directed, supplied and controlled" by North Viet Nam and that "recently the pace (of aggression) has quickened and the threat has now become acute."

A check with several senators produced agreement that the State Department had made a convincing case on the extent of Communist involvement in the South Vietnamese war. Several said they thought the white paper may have been issued to condition the American people to the possibility of expanded U.S. action in Viet Nam.

Henry Cabot Lodge, appointed by President Johnson last Friday as a special consultant on Viet Nam, said the document confirmed his belief that "if the external pressure against South Viet Nam were to stop, the situation would then become one with which the government of South Viet Nam could deal by itself." He is a former ambassador to Saigon.

Kosygin, who was in Leipzig for the 800th anniversary of the East German city's trade fair, said he had not read the U.S. government's white paper on Viet Nam.

But he added: "When one murders women and children and when women, and children

South Viet Troops Hit By Mistake

Deaths, Woundings In Assault Blamed On Faulty Liaison

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — B-57 air strikes against the Communist Viet Cong have been halted in a Mekong Delta area after the American bombers accidentally killed 4 South Vietnamese troops and wounded 15.

Officers said the error resulted from poor liaison between ground and air units. Under the system of communication behavior of the Americans can not be recorded in a white book."

Boy Killed, 7 Injured In Race Car's Plunge

DALLAS, Ga. (AP) — A racing car with 1964 stock car champion Richard Petty at the wheel spun into the air and toppled on a crowd of spectators Sunday, killing an 8-year-old boy and injuring seven persons.

A wheel of the car struck Wayne Dye, and the child was dead on arrival at a hospital. The boy's father, Ronnie Dye, 33, was injured.

Petty, of Randleman, N.C., last year's grand champion of the National Association of Stock Car Auto Racing Drivers, was thrown from the car. He apparently had no serious injury, but reportedly was suffering from shock.

Government forces with U.S. helicopter support continued a ground-sea-air offensive in the delta area 150 miles southeast of Saigon. A large Communist force was believed to have been operating in the area.

There were no reports of damage to the Viet Cong, but government forces came under heavy mortar fire this morning. Two soldiers were killed and 18 others wounded.

The B-57s and Vietnamese air force Skyraiders had been pounding the area for five days, but it was difficult to assess the effectiveness of the strikes. Air crews reported hearing secondary explosions after their bomb runs, including one major blast that could have been a munitions depot.

The ground operation was launched Saturday when two battalions of paratroops were flown to the front in 137 helicopters. It was the biggest lift of the war.

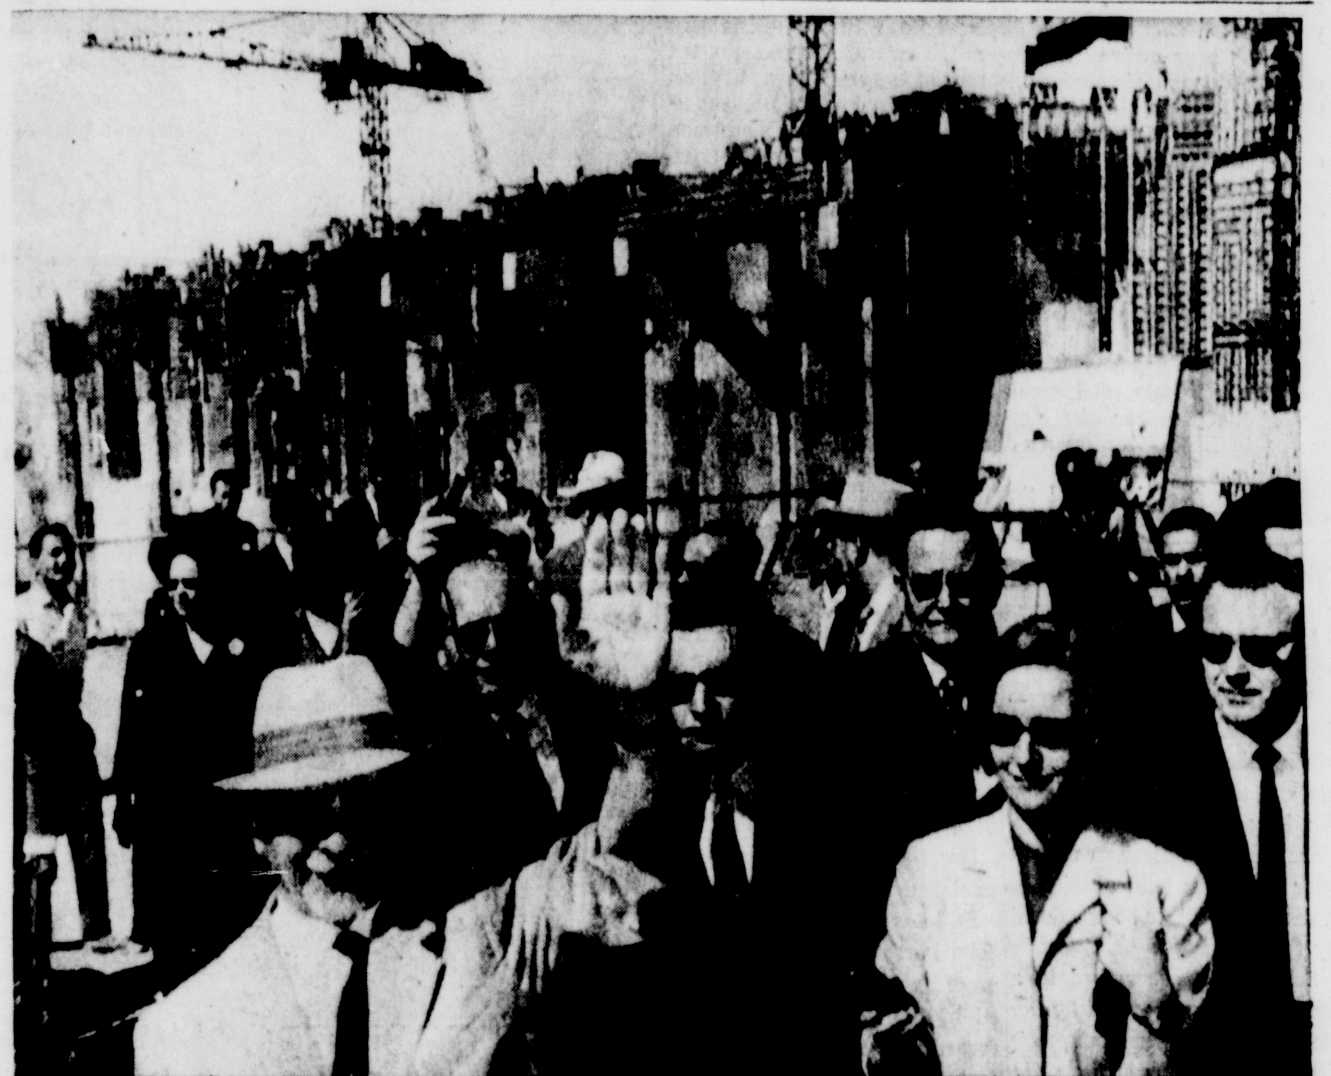

Government forces fanning out through the region reported no major contact with the Communists, but the area was heavily mined and there was some sniper fire.

Vietnamese junk fleets and navy units were operating off the nearby coast.

Vietnamese planes sank what may have been a camouflaged vessel running munitions from North Viet Nam.

State Patrol Cases

District Mishaps Injure 5 Slightly

Weekend traffic mishaps caused minor injuries to five in the district, the Ohio Highway Patrol at Lisbon reported today.

Betty McDevitt, 15, of 1184 Harker Ave. was treated at City Hospital for a possible head injury suffered when the car in which she was a passenger overturned on the Y. & O. Rd. Saturday.

Officers said she was in a car operated by Gerald Thomas, 16, of Westfield Rd., which skidded off the highway and rolled over about two miles southwest of Route 170.

THE PATROL said Thomas was headed south when he came upon another vehicle, lost control on the icy roadway and the 1956 car skidded off the left side and rolled over, landing on its wheels.

He was charged with traveling at a speed in excess of safe road conditions.

Michael Raymond White, 16, of Lisbon R. D. 2 was cited on a similar charge after his 1957 coupe overturned three times after hitting an embankment on Route 154 a mile east of Lisbon Sunday afternoon at 1:15.

THE PATROL said White's car veered off the right side of the road on a curve, then came back on the roadway, spun around and went off the left side of the highway sideways, hit the embankment and overturned, landing on its top.

He received minor injuries, but did not require treatment, the patrol said.

Frank Schiraldi, 22, of Lowellville was taken to Salem City Hospital after his car rolled over along Route 7 just south of Rogers yesterday morning at 3:25.

HE LOST control on the icy road and the 1957 coach went left of center, hit guardrails, then rolled over the guardrails, coming to rest on its top. He

More Trips Planned

Administration Ignores Own 'Don't-Travel' Plea

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Johnson administration's budget indicates federal officials plan some increase in their travels abroad although a number of steps have been taken to hold down such spending.

The government travel figures come to light at a time when President Johnson is asking Americans to cut down on vacation trips abroad.

Only incomplete government travel figures are available. Budget Bureau authorities say there is no single office which keeps tabs on all governmental traveling overseas.

One tabulation of travel items in the budget requests of seven agencies for the fiscal year starting next July 1 comes to $190 million. This compares with $177 million for the same items this year and $179 million last year.

These totals come from appropriations requests to Congress for travel from agencies like the State Department, the foreign aid offices and the Peace Corps whose business involves much foreign work. They also include funds for domestic travel by these agencies, but do not include money to be spent by other agencies on trips abroad.

Johnson, who plans his first overseas trips as president this year, is down for a flat $40,000 in travel expenses each year — destinations unnamed, foreign or domestic. Informants said they expected some of the overseas outlays would come from the President's unvouchered funds on which there is no reporting.

Also unavailable at this time is a total on the amount of overseas touring by congressmen this year. The congressional tendency in the past has been toward increased foreign travel during non-election years.

Girl 'Critical' With Burns In Fire At Home

Blaze In Mattress Causes Flames In Child's Clothing

A 3-year-old girl was burned critically Sunday morning when her clothing caught fire while children were playing with matches at her home.

Jill Sanford, daughter of Curtis Sanford, 646 Riley Ave., was in "critical" condition at City Hospital with first, second and third degree burns of the body.

Firemen said children were playing with matches at the Sanford home and set fire to mattresses in adjoining bedrooms. One of the mattresses then ignited Jill's clothing.

The flames apparently were extinguished by members of her family and an ambulance was summoned before firemen were called at 11:55 a. m.

Asst. Chief Gerald Goodballet said the extent of her burns was not known to firemen since the child was being placed in the ambulance when the first truck arrived.

Firemen confined the blaze to the two mattresses. The house is owned by Mrs. Elizabeth Doane.

The department was called to Loblaw's, Inc., Bradshaw Ave. lot Sunday at 4:12 p. m. when the rear seat of a 1957 Mercury of Virgil Argabrite, 611½ Minerva St., was accidentally set on fire while a cutting torch was being used.

Firemen were called Saturday at 3:16 p. m. to Loblaw's lot to flush gasoline after a gas line broke on a pickup truck of William McDermott.

Firemen said they finally found the truck on Loblaw's Dresden Ave. lot, but explained the melting snow and ice was sufficient to flush the gasoline.

Death Claims Austria Head

VIENNA, Austria (AP) — President Adolf Schaerf, a Socialist who fought both the Nazis and the Communists during his long career, died Sunday. Chancellor Josef Klaus took over his duties until election of a new president, to be scheduled by the Cabinet.

Schaerf, 72, succumbed to a liver ailment aggravated by flu. He was the third Austrian president in a row to die in office. He was elected first in 1957 and re-elected in 1963 to another six-year term.

The functions of an Austrian president are mostly ceremonial but the constitution gives him considerable power. Schaerf's last public function was to welcome the Shah of Iran at Vienna airport Feb. 16. He served as host at the 1961 meeting in Vienna between the late President John F. Kennedy and former Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev.

Pennsylvania Crash Claims Two Ohioans

MEADVILLE, Pa. (AP) — A car failed to negotiate a curve on Route 18 about 20 miles north of here, veered off the road and struck a tree early Sunday, killing two teenagers and injuring a third.

Killed were Max Whal, 17, the driver, and Charles D. Miller, 15, a passenger, both of Cleveland Heights.

Hospital's Head To Address PTA

Miss Nell Robinson, superintendent at City Hospital, will be guest speaker at the meeting of the City PTA Federation Thursday at 8 p.m. at Westgate School library.

Her topic will be "The Hospital and the Community."

Business will be conducted by John Parsons, president, and a progress report will be presented by the Board of Education regarding the new school program.

A nominating committee will be appointed. Delegates and representatives of local PTA groups were urged to attend.

Sport Car Skids And Hits Garage

A 20-year-old motorist was injured late Saturday afternoon when his sports car skidded out of control and struck a garage and a parked auto on outer Dresden Ave., police reported.

The 1959 Thunderbird operated by Frank C. Smith of Westfield Rd. was a total loss after the spectacular crash that also damaged a parked 1957 model station wagon owned by Keith Shaw, 1948 Dresden Ave., and smashed the entire front section of a garage owned by Dan Schrodes of Substation, police said.

ALTHOUGH SMITH was injured, he declined an offer of treatment at City Hospital, according to Patrolman L. E. Richard, the investigating officer.

Smith reported he was driving outbound on Dresden Ave. about 45 to 50 miles an hour when he swerved to avoid a big chunk of ice that apparently dropped off the fender of a passing car.

As he swung to the right, he lost control of the auto, which traveled 100 feet before hitting the Shaw auto and then struck the garage, officers reported. Smith said the car skidded on wet pavement.

THE COLLISION was timed at 5 p. m. Smith was operating an auto owned by Margery D. Wolf, also of Westfield Rd., police said.

He was cited on a charge of driving at a speed too fast for existing road and weather conditions.

A Marine, Smith forfeited a $32.50 bond this morning in Municipal Court.

A SKID also was blamed for a collision Saturday at 11:32 p. m. on Shadyside Ave. which damaged two cars, police said.

The mishap involved a halted 1962 two-door sedan driven by Jay W. Williamson, 35, of 2032 Clark Ave., Wellsville, and a 1955 four-door sedan operated by Raymond Jennings, 17, of 849 St. George St., officers said.

Williamson told police he was headed up grade when he saw the approaching Jennings car skidding out of control. Jennings blamed the skid on icy pavement.

The collision damaged the entire left side of Williamson's car and the left front end and windshield of the Jennings car, officers said.

ANOTHER MISHAP was timed at 11:30 a. m. Saturday on E. 6th St. 50 feet east of Crook Alley.

Police said it involved a parked 1962 convertible owned by Robert J. Ryan of Weirton and a 1964 sedan operated by Kenneth M. Brown, 52, of 155 Laurel Ln.

David Franklin Lenguel of Weirton told officers he parked Ryan's car, discovering the damage when he returned. He said a Georgetown man told him he witnessed a mishap in which an auto bumped the Ryan car and then continued without stopping. He gave Lenguel a license number he said he noted on the other car.

OFFICERS SAID Brown went to headquarters Sunday morning and said he did not know there had been any damage to the Ryan auto. He said he bumped it as he pulled out of a parking spot.

A headlight was broken on the Ryan car and there also was damage to the right front fender and bumper, police said. There was a dent in the Brown auto, officers said.

A 1956 two-door sedan owned by Mrs. Ellen Jefferson, 501 1st Ave., was damaged by a hit-skip vehicle while parked on 1st Ave. between 10:30 p. m. Friday and 9 a. m. Saturday, police were told.

WILLIAM JEFFERSON, husband of the owner, reported the collision, which damaged the left rear quarter panel, tail light and backup light of the auto, police said. Dual wheel tracks in the vicinity indicated the car apparently was hit by a truck, according to Patrolman Orin C. Smith.

In another hit-skip collision, a 1951 four-door sedan owned by Walter A. Everts, 2008 Pennsylvania Ave. Ext. was damaged sometime between Saturday at 10 p. m. and Sunday at 11 a. m. while parked on Pennsylvania Ave. Ext. about 1,500 feet east of Elizabeth St., police were told.

Everts said the crash damaged both right doors and the right front fender and bumper.

Clergy Seeks Approval

English Cardinal Faces Move For Birth Control

LONDON (AP) — Britain's new cardinal — John Heenan, Archbishop of Westminster — faces a revolt among some of his clergy over Roman Catholic attitudes toward birth control.

Last year Archbishop Frank Roberts, a Jesuit who was formerly archbishop of Bombay, criticized Church doctrine in the magazine Search.

Dr. Heenan, who had just become head of the English hierarchy, responded that the Church's present teaching — opposing all but natural birth control methods — was God's law and could not be altered.

But Archbishop Roberts has not remained silent. He contributed, along with seven laymen, to "Objections to Roman Catholicism," a book that takes a sharply critical look at some present aspects of Church teaching. Again the archbishop picked the subject of birth control.

He has also written the foreword for an English edition of another collection of essays, published in New York under the title "Contraception and Holiness." This book is described in advance publicity here as a frontal attack on the Church's whole birth control philosophy.

Among laymen, Dr. Anne Biezanek, 36, mother of seven, is fighting her own battle with the clergy by refusing to close a birth control clinic she ran in the heavily industrialized Liverpool area. For six months she presented herself to take Communion in her parish church but was passed by the priest. Then she came to London, attended Mass at Westminster Cathedral and received Communion.

"Whatever happens my clinic will stay open," she says. "I believe I am doing God's work in helping Catholics to limit the size of their families."

Two young pastors braved the certain wrath of their superiors and spoke out on contraception while Cardinal Heenan was out of the country getting his red hat in Rome.

The Rev. Arnold McMahon, 25, teacher in a seminary, wrote in the Birmingham Post:

"I have come to believe that not only do many Catholics use contraceptives — I believe they have the right."

Now he is in retreat—cut off from the world in prayer and meditation. His order, the Divine Missionary Word, issued a statement disavowing his views.

Father McMahon's plight spurred the Rev. Joseph Cocker, 26, to similar action. He wrote in a Roman Catholic newspaper:

"I completely support what Father McMahon said although I realize I must face the consequences."

He was removed from his Isle of Wight parish, banned from preaching and sent into retreat at Winchester.

Police Cite Man In Fall On Street

Harold Amos, 54, an East Liverpool man with no permanent address, was booked into City Jail on a charge of intoxication filed under state law after he fell Saturday at 11:08 a. m. while at Avondale and Bank Sts., police reported.

Patrolman Paul A. Burson was dispatched on a report a man had fallen. He said he found Amos lying on the street and the man claimed he had been struck by an auto. However, a witness told the officer he saw the man fall and no auto was involved. Amos then said he "did not know what happened." Officer Burson reported.

Amos was removed in an ambulance to City Hospital, where he was X-rayed for possible injuries and then released. Lodged in jail, he told officers he was released Friday from County Jail after "laying out" a fine on an intoxication charge.

Pleading guilty this morning before Acting Judge Ben H. Beriman, Amos was fined $100 and costs.

Pro-Russian Reds Seek United Communist Front

MOSCOW (AP) — Pro-Soviet foreign Communist leaders gathered in secrecy in Moscow today to discuss fading prospects for restoring unity to the broken ranks of the world Communist movement.

The Red Chinese continued to hurl invective at the new Kremlin leadership, accusing it of deepening the Soviet-Chinese split while talking about unity.

Leaders from 17 foreign Communist parties were scheduled to meet today with Soviet Communist party Presidium member Mikhail Suslov.

There was no official information on the location of the talks. Western correspondents stationed outside the Soviet party's Central Committee building and other possible sites reported no sign of a meeting.

The Communist party paper Pravda published the names of 47 delegates from 18 parties, including the Soviet one, who it said were in Moscow.

They were from Argentina, Australia, Brazil, Bulgaria, Cuba, Czechoslovakia, Finland, France, East Germany, West Germany, Hungary, India, Italy, Mongolia, Poland, Syria and the Soviet Union.

Three American Communists were listed as observers. The British Communist party was expected to send a delegation after a last-minute decision Saturday to drop their opposition to the meeting.

The Communist parties of China, North Korea, North Viet Nam, Japan, Indonesia, Albania and Romania are boycotting the meeting.

The Chinese and their allies have warned that the meeting, originally called to prepare a world Communist summit meeting later this year, would be the first step toward a final split in the world movement.

Well-Deserved Recognition

Residents of East Liverpool and nearby communities for some time have been aware of the accomplishments of the local Citizens Scholarship Foundation.

Therefore, it is extremely satisfying to have those efforts deservedly recognized on a statewide basis.

Since its establishment three years ago, the foundation — through its "Dollars For Scholars" campaign — has been responsible for channeling many a deserving student toward higher education.

As a followup to a local delegation's participation in a conference last month at Columbus and conversations with Gov. James Rhodes, the East Liverpool program is serving as the nucleus of the new Ohio Citizens Scholarship Foundation which is taking its first steps. Its objective is to assist many high school seniors who may not have the grades necessary to be recipients of the various scholarships which already are in existence but who, nevertheless, merit an opportunity to continue their education.

Gov. Rhodes has left no doubt as to the administration's feeling about the program here. The governor had this to say in commenting on the new Ohio CSF: "We've borrowed parts of the East Liverpool program in forming the statewide foundation. They pioneered in this field and their program is one of the finest everywhere."

Words such as these and statewide recognition must make the time and effort put into the work more than worthwhile. Those who have contributed in the annual campaigns also have cause to be even more proud of the vital part they have played.

The greatest satisfaction, however, still must come from the knowledge that the foundation has been — and will continue to be — responsible for starting local and area students up the ladder of higher education.

Overtime-itis

Our neighboring West Virginia basketball fans still must have the jitters as the result of the squeakers their Mountaineers survived in capturing the Southern Conference championship and advancing to NCAA tournament competition.

Two overtime games in two nights is more than the most rugged fan can take, especially with the stakes so high. But the Mounties came through under pressure and all's well that ends well.

For the fans' sake, we hope the victories come easier in the coming NCAA tests.

Make It A Year-'Round Goal

Brotherhood Week has come and gone officially for another year. But it must certainly — officially or unofficially — must be more than a one-week proposition to be truly effective.

In 1934, at the suggestion of Fr. Hugh McMenamin, pastor of the Catholic Cathedral in Denver, Colo., the National Conference of Christians and Jews inaugurated its first Brotherhood observance as a single day of recognition to draw better human relations and the NCCJ year-round educational activities aimed at achieving these goals.

Within five years, by 1939, a single day could no longer encompass the vast variety of civic and religious activities which came to be associated with this annual event. Brotherhood Day became Brotherhood Week and the year-round NCCJ educational activities grew more imperative with every passing day.

Immediately the confines of even one week became absurd to thinking men concerned about the rapid social upheavals following World War II and man's ability or lack of it to adjust to meet the new challenges of change. Too many Americans were still content to drift with the winds, to hole up in comfortable walls of prejudice and hope that somehow they would come out all right.

But human relations have become an imperative and urgent matter for all mankind — the world over. Our petty daily lives are an integral part of today's world and we must all bear personal responsibility for what our world shall become.

In 1965, if Brotherhood Week is beginning to get under our skin as a sham, a false pretense or conscience salve so that we can return to normal, unbrotherly behavior for the rest of the year, then we are only now beginning to get the message of Brotherhood Week since its inception 31 years ago.

Yes, Brotherhood Week is more than a one-week proposition. It is a year-round goal.

'Near Misses'

Safes here and in Midland have been the target of would-be "crackers" in the last few days. Fortunately, both withstood the assaults and nothing was taken in either case.

The "near misses", however, serve as another warning of the danger of keeping large sums of money around a business establishment, an office, a lodge or a private dwelling.

Those who do are asking for trouble.

Letter From Max

Dear Truman Twill:

It is strange that you never ask my opinion about anything.

You are always arguing major issues of the day with yourself and never seem to want to know what other people are thinking.

This reminds me of an aunt and uncle I once had. My uncle said my aunt was the only person he had ever known who argued everything with herself and won every time.

One thing that prompted this letter was an obituary on Associate Justice Felix Frankfurter. The story said his last major opinion was a monumental, 64-page dissent against the court's 6-2 ruling that federal courts may decide on the constitutionality of distribution of seats in state legislatures.

Though you did not ask me, I'll tell you that I agree with Frankfurter. Until reading his obituary I never realized he agreed with me on this.

THE ONE important difference in our positions is that he based his judgment on the U.S. Constitution and the law, whereas I based mine on the premise that any jackass ought to know state legislatures should be apportioned fairly.

I could not imagine the U.S. Supreme Court being called upon to spend its valuable time worrying about such an elementary thing.

The obituary also said he was believed to have been influential in the court's 1954 decision banning racial segregation in public schools. This was another court ruling that surprised me; not because it said what it did but because it ever had to be said at all.

Any jackass ought to know a public school should be open to the public.

Oddly enough, many or most of the states have reapportioned themselves and probably are as badly gerrymandered as ever, and the school desegregation battle is still going on in some states.

IT BEATS ME why parochial schools want to get mixed up with public funds for bussing kids to school, while some local public school boards are so leery of interference they don't want federal funds.

All of this, in turn, reminds me of an item in the paper the other day that said there are 22,000 occupations in the United States. Do you suppose this included the occupation of chronic complainer?

The flat statement that there are 22,000 occupations was almost enough to spark an objection. I'll bet you could think of a couple of occupations not included in the 22,000.

What do you suppose those 22,000 jobs are, anyhow?

Now, this may seem like a digression, but if you think about it, Twill, it really isn't. A friend says tobacco and its accompanying ills are the redman's revenge on the white man.

He said the Indians knew what they were doing when they hooked the white invader on the weed. He calls it the "red menace."

Faithfully yours,
MAX

Words

A wag was explaining how double talk makes it possible for people to get along amicably, each knowing the other does not really mean it when he says it has been nice to see you again but saying it anyway.

In every social contact, there are the spoken and the unspoken words. "Here's one of the greatest fellows you'll ever meet!" — the spoken words. The unspoken words — "You'll love this wobblehead like a common cold, which is why I am dumping him in your lap while I pass on to more pleasant things."

But it goes further.

There are spoken and unspoken words on the part of the wobblehead, too. He says aloud, "I've known and loved Fred for years. We were boys together back in Wappanocksee, Wisconsin."

He thinks, "Man and boy I've been thrown off the bus more times than I want to think about, but that sadist makes a production of it. Maybe in the interests of eternal justice I should remember some things Freddy was noted for back in Wappanocksee. Like the time he vandalized the high school . . ."

OR THE boss grabs you by the shoulder and says to a visiting fireman, "Here's a fellow we couldn't do without around here. Shake hands with Ebenezer Wobblehead."

What the boss doesn't say is, "We're counting the days until Eb quits feeding on fringe benefits and shuffles off to Buffalo."

What E. Wobblehead says is, "Mr. Amplegrith is being much too kind. He is flattering me."

But what he thinks is, "One of these days that fat fraud will go too far and I will punt his excess weight up between his shoulder blades. If he cannot do without me, why doesn't he show his appreciation?"

Buttered On Both Sides

Powell Threatens Action Against U.S.

By Victor Riesel

Harrassed, sleepless and obviously losing weight, the embattled Rep. Adam Clayton Powell, D-N.Y., now is threatening to investigate many sections of the federal government itself.

In an exclusive interview with this column, the powerful Negro representative from Harlem asserted he has the power to probe even the highest echelons of President Johnson's executive departments.

Powell charged virtually all of these Cabinet departments, regulatory agencies and commissions with intentional discrimination against Negroes. He averred there was only a handful of Negroes in policy making positions in the U.S. government.

The power to probe these departments, commissions, boards and agencies, he said, springs from his virtually unknown authority over the Federal Equal Employment Opportunity Commission created by the Civil Rights Act.

REP. POWELL, already in a running series of feuds with various courts, police authorities and labor leaders, said he would use this commission for a series of public hearings.

To the witness stand, he said, snapping his words out angrily, he would bring the heads of such departments as Health, Education and Welfare, the Atomic Energy Commission and scores of board and bureau chiefs.

Powell and I talked in a San Juan hotel the other day. He had just finished a table-thumping speech at a Caribbean conference on poverty and unemployment in Puerto Rico sponsored by the American Foundation on Automation and Employment, Inc.

Powell said he would act in the next few weeks unless many more Negroes were appointed to policy-making jobs. By this he referred to ambassadors, assistant secretaries of Cabinet officials, and membership on the regulatory agencies.

Powell's words are not taken lightly by the White House.

THE HARLEM congressman, for example, is in a strong position to bargain with the President over the poverty program. It comes up for re-authorization at hearings before the House Education and Labor Committee in April. Powell heads this committee and can hold up its authorization, or renewal, and its funds for scores of projects by delaying tactics.

His committee also controls the movement of such legislation as repeal of Section 14B of the right to work clause — which labor wants wiped out.

Harlem's perpetually angry man can prevent the President from delivering such repeal to the labor movement, as Lyndon Johnson has pledged to do.

So he is a strategic position to push for the appointment of Negroes to the policy-making departments and boards. Powell's threats and arguments are based on an analysis he and his staff have made of Negroes in the federal government's upper echelons.

TYPICAL of his charges is one hurled at the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare. There is, says Powell, not a single Negro in any of the department's 151 top positions.

He asserts that out of 110 ambassadors, two ministers and five ambassadors to special missions there are but two Negroes.

Among the top 50 Peace Corps executives, he asserts, there are two Negroes.

He finds only one Negro out of 95 members or commissioners in the 17 federal regulatory agencies. These bodies include the Federal Reserve System, Civil Aeronautics Board, Securities and Exchange Commission, Tariff Commission, Federal Maritime Commission, the Federal Power Commission, the Federal Trade Commission and the NLRB. Only the latter has a Negro member.

On the actual cabinet and sub-cabinet level there are two assistant secretaries — one in the Labor Department and the other in the Commerce Department.

THUS POWELL says he has the grounds for charging the U.S. government itself with discrimination in hiring.

He says bluntly he will invoke the Federal Equal Employment Opportunity Commission against the U.S. — though the commission was created to look into unions and private industry.

And he says he has already personally communicated his sentiments to President Johnson.

Checking The Mail

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK

Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

In Malaya, if a husband is arrested for drunken driving, the police get his wife and put her in jail with him. In Saudi Arabia, a driver who survives a fatal accident for which he is responsible may be beheaded.

People are the slowest growers. A rabbit doubles its birth weight in six days, but it takes a human baby 151 days.

Forgotten political heroes: Henry Wilson, vice president in the second administration of U.S. Grant, was an originator and champion of the eight-hour work day. But he himself usually worked up to 16 hours a day, and died of a stroke in the Senate at 63.

Cold weather suggestion: Keep moving. You produce four times as much heat walking briskly as you do sitting.

Peaceful America: Someone gets shot to death every two hours in our law-abiding land. At least one out of every four guns bought by mail order in metropolitan areas is purchased by a person with a police record that bars him from buying one locally.

Women have more to look forward to than men do. A man of 65 will live on the average to nearly 80, a woman to about 85.

Know your language: Golf comes from a Dutch word "kolf," meaning a club. Although the Scots claim to have invented golf, they used to import their best balls from Holland, which may indicate the game started there.

Add apt definitions: Ginger ale — a drink that tastes like your foot feels when it's asleep.

The high cost of being sick: Over half a million U.S. families each year have medical expenses larger than their incomes.

British criminals are getting better looks — at government expense. Convicts are entitled under the national health service there to have scars, tattoos and other disfigurements removed. At one jail, 24 prisoners even had their faces lifted.

Irony: We are criticized as being selfish and dollar-mad, but the American people give away food rations each day to 100 million persons abroad, more than half our own population.

It was Carl Sandburg who observed, "In these times you have to be an optimist to open your eyes when you awake in the morning."

The Colosseum, largest and most famous of the ancient Roman amphitheaters, was opened for use in A. D. 80. Elliptical in shape, it consisted of three stories and an upper gallery, and could seat between 40,000 and 50,000 spectators. It was principally used for gladiatorial contests.

Viet Nam Mix-Up

By James Marlow

President Pressured On Various 'Solutions'

WASHINGTON — If President Johnson is in the White House eight years he probably will not encounter a more cloudy, contradictory, mixed-up mess than he is trying to cope with in South Viet Nam now.

It's such a mess that at home he gets opinions as opposite as these: Step up the war against the Communists! don't step it up but try for a negotiated settlement and get out.

Abroad, the views are no less divided. The Soviet Union demands the United States get out, pronto. The French suggest a negotiated peace.

A stepped-up war might in the end bring in the Soviet Union and Red China but without it the Reds might decide they didn't have to negotiate a settlement at all. Yet, withdrawal without negotiation would mean lost American prestige.

Meanwhile, President Johnson has stepped up the war although in mid-February he said, "We seek no wider war."

He has been urged to talk directly to the nation about it all. Instead, he has talked privately with newsmen or through public statements by Secretary of State Dean Rusk and White House press secretary George E. Reedy.

Through these triple but indirect explanations Johnson has stated the American position. The United States does not oppose negotiation but wants none until the Reds give some indication of calling off the war.

The meaning of "indication" was not explicitly spelled out, thus leaving the administration room to decide later whether a little "indication" is enough or a lot of "indication" is insufficient.

In stepping up the war — against the Red guerrillas in South Viet Nam — American jet bombers were used, thus ending the myth that Americans helping the Vietnamese were merely advisers although over 300 have been killed in the fighting.

How does the Johnson administration justify American intervention in the Vietnamese war? The same way the Eisenhower and Kennedy administration's did: that the United States has an obligation to protect small nations in Southeast Asia from aggression.

The American motivation is not all unselfish. It wants to prevent communism from gobbling all Southeast Asia, knowing that if South Viet Nam goes, the rest of the area may not be far behind.

The stronger communism becomes, and the more real estate it controls, the further American defenses are pushed back to the U.S. mainland.

In this country one of the reasons given by those favoring an American pull-out from the war is that it is basically a civil war among the Vietnamese people.

Over the weekend the Johnson administration sought to answer this argument in a 14,000-word white paper giving detailed evidence that Red North Viet Nam has directed the war in the south, providing both men and supplies.

Yet, the white paper admitted a lot of South Vietnamese had joined the Red guerrillas — thus lending some support to the civil war view — in fighting the South Vietnamese government but suggested they were terrorized into it.

The very word "government" raises another Johnsonian problem, for it can properly be asked: Since the South Vietnamese government has changed hands so often, just what government is fighting the Reds? The people themselves haven't chosen their government in years. The military leaders changed it around among themselves.

If all this wasn't tough enough, now the Buddhists in South Viet Nam, where they are 80 per cent of the population, have added their influence to what The Associated Press called a swelling demand for a cease-fire.

On top of it all, some South Vietnamese officials fear their military governor in central Viet Nam is becoming a rallying point for the peace movement and may want to set up a separate government of his own in the central section.

Underground Salt City

By James Nichols

DETROIT, Mich. (AP) — A ghost-like city complete with its own network of four-lane highways lies 1,000 feet beneath the heart of industrial Detroit, unknown to most of the motor city's 1.6 million residents.

The underground city, with 50 miles of its own roads, is the gigantic salt mine operation of the International Salt Mine Co.

The miners and company officials seldom number more than 100, no more than necessary to convert the mine's sodium chloride into usable salt.

Windless and dust free, the underground city has an unwavering climate of 57 degrees and a humidity of 56 per cent the year round.

Driving down one of the mine's unlighted "highways" gives the impression that it's a desolate country road, covered lightly with new snow — that's salt — and cut through a rocky hill.

The ceiling is 25 feet overhead. Mined-out passageways show up in the lowered beams of the truck's headlights.

Breaking up the vast area are pillars of salt, 60 by 80 feet, the only supports for tons of rock and city buildings above. Between the pillars stretch the "rooms," 50 feet wide and sometimes several thousand feet long.

The pattern is a complex maze in which a newcomer could easily get lost.

At one end of the mine area pounding machinery grades and grinds the salt as it flows in seemingly endless rivers of white along conveyor belts.

At the other end, beneath suburban Melvindale or Dearborn 3½ miles away, railroad trains are heard rattling overhead.

As shifts change, the miners ride large skip hoists which normally lift 10-ton loads of salt to the surface in 70 seconds. Otherwise this travel is done in double-deck circular cages.

Visiting the vast, man-made cavern is a trip to an odd, new world with modern conveniences.

There is giant earth-moving equipment, some pieces with wheels higher than a man's head. There are power substations and underground lunchrooms. A huge, studded wheel in seconds grinds a half-ton boulder of salt into pebbles.

Down Through The Years

From The Review Files

THIRTY YEARS AGO — Blaine H. Cochran, an attorney here for 27 years, died suddenly at his home.

The Municipal Court paid the city $507 during February, Clerk Sara E. McMillan reported.

TWENTY YEARS AGO — New blue and white automobile license plates for 1945 went on sale with Bruce Allender of Lincoln Ave. the first applicant here.

Miss Kathryn Bailey was accepted as a new member of the Fairview Grange in Pugtown.

TEN YEARS AGO — Mary Hays and Susan Erwine, juniors at East Liverpool High School, were selected to attend the annual Girls' State at Capital University, Columbus, in June.

Herb Lake of Midland and Jack Thayer of New Cumberland captured scoring honors in the district during the regular basketball season.

Jr. was kidnaped from his home in Hopewell, N.J.

In 1943, the point system of rationing canned goods went into effect throughout the nation.

East End Man Fined, Jailed On Drunken Driving Charge

Arrested for the second time in slightly over four months on a charge of drunken driving, an East End man was fined and jailed today in Municipal Court by Acting Judge Ben H. Berman.

Austin H. Eastman of Ruth St. drew a fine of $200 and costs and five days in jail. The acting judge also suspended his operator's license for six months.

Eastman, cited at 10:56 p. m. Saturday on Pennsylvania Ave. pleaded guilty. Police told the court Eastman was arrested for the same offense on Oct. 18.

Mrs. Mary J. Heiney, 603 E. 3rd St., was fined $10 and costs, with the fine suspended, after pleading guilty to permitting her 15-year-old son to operate a motor vehicle without first obtaining a permit.

Mrs. Heiney was cited Friday at 3:35 p. m. on E. 3rd St. Questioned by Judge Berman, she told the court her son was to appear at 1 this afternoon before Juvenile Judge Louis Tobin.

Mooney Gets Ohio Diploma

Lt. Kenneth H. Mooney has received a diploma as an instructor of new Ohio law enforcement officers after completing an 80-hour course conducted by the Ohio Department of Education's division of vocational education in co-operation with Ohio State University.

The two-week course, broken into 10 eight-hour days, was conducted at Youngstown by Harry Smith, former police chief at Ashland.

Mooney now is one of 100 Ohio officers qualified as an instructor under the program. The course is linked to a bill now before the State Legislature that would require all new law enforcement officers in Ohio, including city police and deputy sheriffs, to complete a course in basic training during their probationary period.

The instructors' course represents 160 hours of classroom study compressed into 80 hours. It qualifies the graduates to instruct anywhere in Ohio, using as texts two basic police manuals.

The course covered all basic police procedures, including testimony in court; traffic investigations and controls; misdemeanor and felony arrests; preparation of reports; interrogations, and riot control.

Council provided expense money for the officer to attend the classes.

Sweet Adelines' Fete Draws 100

Special music highlighted the round and square dance sponsored by Sweet Adelines, Inc., Saturday night at Calcutta Grange Hall. About 100 attended.

Mrs. Nancy Beaver directed the chorus in several numbers. Glenn Woods, former director, was presented with a novelty tie made by Mrs. Alberta Bates for his birthday anniversary. Mrs. Ruth Rinehart made the gift presentation and Miss Betty Smith gave him a birthday cake. Mrs. Jan Dietz, president, led the group in singing greetings.

Recorded music was featured with James (Bud) Sheets as caller. Proceeds from the dance and refreshment counter will go for the New York City trip March 26-28, when the group will enter the competition in Region 14.

Mrs. Faye Wright was general chairman assisted by Mrs. Hilda Edgar, Mrs. Bette Damaska, Mrs. Connie Fowler, Mrs. Florence Gloeckner, Mrs. Kathleen Golen, Mrs. Ruth Kennedy, Mrs. Marge Reed and Mrs. Judy Popejoy, all members of the ways and means committee.

Charles Vogt, 23, of Erie R.D. 3, also was taken to Salem City Hospital after his tractor-trailer truck wrecked on Route 7 about four miles north of Route 30 Saturday afternoon at 4:25.

VOGT LOST control on a curve and the fifth wheel broke as the trailer rolled over an embankment. The tractor continued down the road and struck a guardrail, officers said. He was charged with operating unsafe equipment.

Harry Lee Cox, 28, of Rogers R.D. 1 was cited for leaving the scene of an accident after a collision between his car and another on Route 154 a mile east of Rogers Saturday afternoon.

A car driven by Glen Hawkins, 47, of New Waterford R.D. was headed west when Cox overtook and passed him, the latter's 1956 sedan striking the left rear of Hawkins' 1961 coach.

OFFICERS arrested Cox an hour later at a Rogers area tavern. He also was cited for improper passing.

Richard Albright, 50, of Salem was cited after his sedan collided with a station wagon on Route 30 about five miles south of Lisbon Saturday afternoon.

Albright made a left turn in the path of the other vehicle driven by Ignacio Muniz, 29, of Rio Grand City, Tex. No one was injured. Albright was charged with failure to yield the right-of-way.

Officers cited Michael Flynn, 16, of Columbiana after his car collided with one driven by Gerald Lee Poole, 37, of the Y. & O. Rd. on Route 7 at East Fairfield Sunday at 12:15 p. m.

FLYNN, headed east on Route 517, pulled out onto Route 7 for a view past a disabled truck, and Poole, headed north on Route 7, was unable to stop in time to avoid a crash.

Flynn was charged with failure to yield the right-of-way.

No one was injured in a collision between two autos on Route 7 about a half mile south of Route 46 at 2:15 p. m. yesterday.

Ralph Lyke, 48, of Weirton stopped on the highway to advise a patrol officer where the driver of a disabled auto was located. George Streitferdt, 54, of Youngstown, headed in the same direction, was unable to stop, and his car hit the rear of Lyke's.

are driven from their homes, then these acts can not be recorded in a white book — at least no one in the world would believe this."

The Soviet leader said also that all people in Asia would "unite against what the Americans are doing there in Viet Nam."

In Tokyo, a monitored broadcast of the official New China News Agency said the United States has long been "busy inventing excuses and preparing the public for new aggression" against North Viet Nam.

It called the State Department document "a pretext for further extending the war and unleashing new armed aggression against the Democratic Republic of (North) Viet Nam."

Tass, the official Soviet news agency, said the purpose of the report "is to whitewash the U.S. military intervention in South Viet Nam and to justify further aggressive military actions by American imperialism against the Democratic Republic of (North) Viet Nam, which threaten peace in Southeast Asia."

Lawyer Dies At 93

CLEVELAND (AP) — Amos Burt Thompson, 93, a Cleveland lawyer for more than half a century before his retirement in 1950, died Sunday in Winter Park, Fla., where he was spending the winter. He was the oldest living member of the Cleveland Bar Association.

Wheeling News - Register alleging gamblers had been successful in getting the bill bottled up in the Senate Judiciary Committee.

News - Register Editor Harry Hamm and Ohio County Prosecutor Arch W. Riley were directed to appear before the Rules Committee in a resolution passed last week.

Senate President Howard Carson, D-Fayette, said investigation of the newspaper accusations was necessary to clear Judiciary Committee members and the Senate in general of any wrongdoing.

Meanwhile, the original bill has been rewritten and action on it held up pending the outcome of the Rules Committee investigation.

Here's Ohio Vote During Roll Calls

WASHINGTON (AP) — How Ohio members of Congress were recorded as voting on recent roll calls:

HOUSE

On Edwards, D-Calif., motion, rejected 332-58, to require open hearings on justification for $370,000 appropriation for house committee on Un-American activities:

Democrats for the motion — Ashley.

Republicans against — Ashbrook, Ayres, Betts, Bolton, Brown, Clancy, Devine, Harsha, Latta, McCulloch, Minshall, Mosher, Stanton.

Democrats against — Feighan, Gilligan, Kirwan, Love, Moeller, Secrest, Sweeney, Vanik.

Republicans not voting — Bow; Democrats not voting — Hays. (Ashley was only Ohioan to vote against resolution which granted committee's fund request. Resolution was adopted 356-29).

SENATE

On passage, 67-14, of bill authorizing United States to participate in an increase of $750 million in resources of the fund for special operations of the Inter-American Development Bank.

Homemakers' Group Sets Program Tonight

Oliver Johnson, Hancock County extension agent, will present a color slide program at a meeting of the Pleasantview Homemakers tonight at the home of Mrs. Carl Mooney on Washington Road, near Chester.

The program, "Peace Through World Understanding," will concern the World's Fair and United Nations.

Prior to the program, an international dinner will be served, each member taking a dish to represent a foreign country. The dinner will be held at 6:30, with the program at 7:30.

The round-leaved sundew, a common bog plant, extends as many as 200 sticky tentacles on each of its many leaves to snare mosquitoes, flies and gnats. The fernlike plant digests its meaty diet with special dissolving enzymes.

Strike Begun At 70 Plants Of Can Firms

NEW YORK (AP) — A strike against 70 plants of two of the nation's biggest can companies got under way today after deadline efforts failed to settle a dispute over pay and other issues.

The strike called by the AFL-CIO United Steelworkers of America affects about 36,000 employees of the Continental Can Co. and American Can Co. across the nation, in Puerto Rico and in Canada.

Outcome of the union dispute with American and Continental was expected to guide negotiations with smaller can companies employing another 9,000 workers.

3 Die, 3 Hospitalized From Gas Poisoning

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Three persons are dead as a result of gas poisoning suffered Sunday from a faulty furnace in a home here.

Mrs. Barbara Farmer, 30, died early today at St. Elizabeth's Hospital. Two of her daughters, Sheryl, 9, and Sheila, 1, were dead when they were found last night.

Three other children were hospitalized. William Jr., 11, and Gregory, 7, were in critical condition. Pamela, 6, was listed as serious.

Police detective Jack Reese said "evidently the stoker ran out of coal, but the furnace did not cut off."

Local Youth, 15, Hurt As Auto Rams Bridge

Billy Lee Torrence, 15, of 151 Center St. suffered bruises of the forehead and thumb when a car in which he was a passenger struck a bridge along the Bell School Rd. Saturday night.

He was in a car operated by Russell Dray, 17, of Charles St. which apparently skidded on an icy section of road while returning from a Sunday School class event, the family said. He was treated at City Hospital.

2 Are Known Dead In Blast At Montreal

MONTREAL (AP) — Two persons were reported killed today by an explosion which ripped through a 20-unit apartment building in the west end suburb of LaSalle.

Police said there were "a few known dead" and an undetermined number of persons injured in the blast.

A reporter on the scene said he saw the bodies of a woman and a baby being taken from the building.

Soldier In Maneuver

SALINEVILLE — Army Pfc. James R. Shook, son of Mr. and Mrs. James R. Shook of R. D. 1, recently participated in a seven-week winter field training exercise near Hohenfels, Germany, with other members of the 4th Armored Division. The 23-year-old soldier is a 1960 graduate of Wellsville High School and entered the service in 1963.

ELDERCARE

...better care than Medicare

Here's why the Herlong-Curtis Eldercare Bill, HR 3727, is the best answer to the health care needs of people over 65

MORE BENEFITS FOR THE ELDERLY

Eldercare would provide a wide range of hospital and medical services for the elderly—much more than Medicare.

Physicians' Care
Surgical Costs
Drugs—In and out of Hospital
Hospital & Nursing Home Charges

ELDERCARE	MEDICARE
YES	NO
YES	NO
YES	NO
YES	YES

LESS COST TO THE TAXPAYERS

Eldercare offers more care for the elderly who need help, but would cost less because it does not provide benefits for the wealthy and well-to-do. Eldercare would not require a new payroll tax. It would be financed by federal-state funds through a program that already exists.

By contrast, the Medicare tax plan would increase payroll taxes to provide benefits for everyone over 65, the wealthy included. Furthermore, the Medicare tax would hit hardest those least able to pay. The $5,600-a-year worker would pay as much tax as the $56,000 executive.

Your doctors, who care for the elderly, support Eldercare because it also assures free choice of physician and hospital... provides for protection through Blue Cross, Blue Shield and health insurance policies... and lets people over 65 qualify for benefits before illness strikes—without a welfare type investigation.

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery Stops Itch—Relieves Pain

New York, N. Y. (Special) — For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids, stop itching, and relieve pain — without surgery. In case after case, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction (shrinkage) took place. Most amazing of all — results were so thorough that sufferers made astonishing statements like "Piles have ceased to be a problem!"

The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne®) — discovery of a world-famous research institute. This substance is now available in suppository or ointment form under the name Preparation H®. At all drug counters.

Individual table prizes were awarded: Mrs. John Addis, Mrs. Sarah Dickey, Mrs. Charles Maloney, Mrs. George Gogol, Mrs. Leonard Copestick, Mrs. Richard Breneman, Mrs. George Cawthon, Mrs. James Ryan, Mrs. Mayme Davidson and Mrs. Norman Hoyt.

Refreshments were served at a buffet table covered with an orchid cloth and centered with white branches with miniature model hats nestled in the limbs. It was surrounded with orchid maline. Hostesses were Mrs. Fahnert, Mrs. Mike Fontano, Mrs. Marilyn Adams and Mrs. Norman Cox.

Mrs. Ronald Eckleberry, president of the club, welcomed the guests.

Camp Fire Girl Group Conducts Pinning Rituals

A pinning ceremony was held by the Twinkling Stars Group of Bluebirds of the Camp Fire Girls Friday night at the Boyce Auditorium.

Mrs. Kay Waters, leader, presented pins and registration cards to Tina Adkins, Diane Bennett, Elaine Boston, Cheryl and Mary Burson, Deborah Davis, Diane Ehrhart, Alice Jones, Denise Kinsey, Judith Pack, Geraldine Peachey, Cindy Penny, Sue Standley, Sylvia and Theresa Thompson, Robin Thorn, Debbie and Doris Veglia and Silk Waters.

Geraldine Peachey gave the welcome and Sue Standley read the story of Camp Fire Girls. Group singing was held.

The girls recited "The Bluebird Wish." Diane Ehrhart offered prayer. Silk Waters gave a reading, "What Is a Bluebird?"

Crafts were displayed on a table.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Betty Kinsey, Mrs. Betty Thorn, Mrs. Vivian Penny, Mrs. Lila Veglia, Mrs. Barbara Bennett, Mrs. Ernestine Peachey and Mrs. Barbara Ehrhart.

The centerpiece on the buffet table consists of red roses in a gold vase, flanked by lighted tapers in gold candelabra.

Court Launches City Man's Trial

Testimony began late this morning in Common Pleas Court at Lisbon in the trial of Albert E. Donahue, 50, of East Liverpool, indicted by the recalled January Grand Jury for burglary at the home of Pete Gardner, 431 Commerce St., Wellsville, on Jan. 19.

Donahue allegedly walked in the back door of the Gardner home and picked up a transistor radio. He later was picked up by Wellsville police and charged with drunk and disorderly conduct. The radio was in his pocket, police said.

The jury sworn in by Judge Joel H. Sharp includes: Dorothy E. Shone, Evelyn Talbott, Geraldine Schneider, Ann Stepanovich, Roberta Shovin and Samuel C. Lockhart, all East Liverpool; Edwin R. Smith, William T. Bailey, Margaret M. Smith, and Mary M. Roessler, Salem; Edward Waggle, East Palestine, and Esther Shaw, Lisbon. Louise Eardley of East Liverpool is alternate.

the dignity of man

The dignity of man is a priceless possession.

To secure and preserve this right for our fellow men has made the people of this country champions of freedom and leaders among democratic nations of the world.

The dignity of man is immortal.

The final rites present memorial tributes in the hallowed role of the funeral service to speak for the dignity of man. A person blessed with life, full of warmth and character beloved by people who have known him, merits this honor. He is not a statistic, nor a blurred image of the "average man." He is an image of God, and a brother to us all.

THE INDIVIDUAL IS SUPREME. Each individual owns this spirit within himself. This country has prospered from the union of individual citizens, not as faceless puppets. Man is important. He is not a "movement" nor a "machine."

HONOR THE LIFE OF MAN, not the achievements of the State, nor material successes. The profoundest traditions down through the centuries have lent tenderness, meaning and pride to the funeral service, the most solemn of occasions.

FUNERAL SERVICE EXPRESSES LOVE. It records a love so enduring it will never die. It is the recognition of the immortality of the human spirit, the rightful reverence earned by the good life ... final testimony to the dignity of man.

Patrolman Halts Leap By Woman

A suicide attempt by a 52-year-old Wellsville woman was thwarted today when a Wellsville patrolman spotted some of the clothing she had discarded before walking down the bank of Little Yellow Creek to jump in.

Patrolman Charles Amato saw the clothing when he parked the cruiser at McKinley School on Lisbon St. at 8:25 to supervise the crossing of elementary children.

He said the woman's coat, scarf and spectacles were lying in a pile at the edge of the bridge on Wells Ave. near the floodwall. He walked over to investigate and saw the woman standing on the bank. The water is about 15 or 16 feet deep under the bridge. Another woman had committed suicide at the spot a few months ago.

Amato said he yelled at the woman and "she just froze." He ran down the bank and grabbed her. He said she admitted that she had planned to take her own life.

Her physician was notified and the woman was admitted to Woodside Receiving Hospital at Youngstown for observation, police said.

ROGERS — The Mothers Club will meet Thursday afternoon at 1 at the school to plan an Easter party and display Easter candy being sold by members. Mrs. Anna Marie Straub is president.

School Districts To Get $760,095 From State Fund

Columbiana County school districts will get $760,095 in the regular quarterly distribution of school foundation funds totaling over $69 million, State Auditor Chester W. Goble said today at Columbus.

The East Liverpool system will be paid $185,973. The four local school districts — Beaver, United, Southern and Fairfield-Waterford — will split a total of $225,055. The county system will be paid $29,525.

Other payments by districts are: East Palestine, $74,089; Salem, $76,123; Wellsville, $76,292; Columbiana, $45,935, and Leetonia, $47,103.

The payments went to 722 school districts in the state and 88 county boards of education and brought to more than $200 million the total foundation funds paid during the current fiscal year, which ends June 30.

FOPA Delegates Air Proposed Resolutions

Resolutions to be presented at the state convention were discussed when Wellsville Fraternal Order of Police Associates Lodge 51 hosted the annual meeting of 2nd District delegates Sunday afternoon at the SOI Hall.

Thirty attended, representing the 12 chapters in Columbiana, Mahoning, Tuscarawas, Stark, Jefferson and Belmont Counties. The state convention will be at Columbus in July.

Larry Sena of Lake Milton, District 2 trustee, was the principal speaker. Bernard L. Ference, president of the Wellsville chapter, presided. It was the first time Wellsville had hosted the session.

Marine Ends Training

EAST PALESTINE — Pvt. Gary G. Flowers, son of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Flowers of New Liberty Rd., has completed four weeks of individual combat training with the 1st Infantry Training Regiment at the Marine Corps Base at Camp Lejeune, N. C.

Weirton Man Charged As Lottery's Operator

WEIRTON — Al Magrini, operator of the Sports Lounge on Main St., posted $500 bond on a charge of conducting a lottery following a raid by sheriff's deputies Sunday afternoon.

Magrini is scheduled for a hearing before Squire John D. Herron March 9.

Magrini was arrested and fined in January on the same charge. The raid Sunday marked the 52nd of a series which began in the area when Sheriff Joseph Rodak took office Jan. 1.

Attends 4-H Session

NEW CUMBERLAND — Mrs. Ruth McPherson of Weirton is attending the week-long West Virginia 4-H conference at Jackson Mills, near Clarksburg, which opened today.

Sweet Adeline Aide Selected

Mrs. Faye Wright of Dixonville was named Junior Council member at the meeting of Sweet Adelines, Friday night at the Potters Savings & Loan Co. annex.

Along with Mrs. Jan Dietz, president, she will attend the first session of the newly-formed District 16 Saturday and Sunday at Buffalo.

This new group was the former Region 14 to which the local chapter belonged, and now it includes several chapters from Canada. First officers will be elected.

Registration cards were completed for the Americana Hotel in New York City, where the chorus will stay for the annual competition March 26-28.

Recommendations of the Executive Board were presented but not voted upon.

Mrs. Nancy Beaver directed practice of the competition numbers.

New members welcomed were Miss Peggy Crytzer and Miss Jennie Jones.

The next session will be held Friday.

Time Changes Set For Reduced Phone Toll Rates

The Ohio Bell Telephone Co. said that effective tonight, bargain calling time for long distance calls within Ohio will begin at 8 instead of 9 and hereafter the same rates will apply all day Sunday.

Also, present evening rates for intra-state calls made in the 6-to-8 p.m. period will apply on Saturdays from 4:30 a.m. to 8 p.m., according to S. H. Eibling, Ohio Bell commercial manager here.

Today's rate decreases on intra-state calls, announced Jan. 19 by the Ohio Public Utilities Commission, conform to similar reductions that went into effect Feb. 1 on calls to points in other states.

Bargain calling rates after 8 nightly and on Sunday make it possible to call anywhere in Ohio for 40 cents or less and anywhere in the nation for no more than $1. The rates cover the first three minutes of station-to-station calls.

In addition, beginning April 1, the maximum charge on daytime inter-state station calls will be reduced from $2.25 to $2 for the first three minutes. Five to 25 cents will be cut from calls beyond 601 miles.

Eibling said the February and March reductions, on calls made in evening hours and on weekends, are of most benefit to residence users. The April 1 cut, however, will be of primary benefit to businesses, which account for most of the daytime calls.

Farmers Oppose Control Policies, 2 Surveys Show

WASHINGTON (AP)—An official of the Ohio Farm Bureau reported today that two recent surveys indicate that many Ohio farmers would like to see an end of government farm programs.

Carl Rufener, of Safford, Ohio, chairman of the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation Legislative Committee, said that "many Ohio farmers, however, recognize that a transition period is needed and a land retirement program is given strong support."

Analysis of the two surveys was presented here today by Rufener to officials of the American Farm Bureau Federation. Rufener is one of a delegation of 50 Ohio farm men and women here for a three-day round of discussions on farm problems.

Rufener said in both studies slightly more than half of the farmers advocated an end to government programs. If quota programs are continued, about 25 per cent of the farmers said they should be voluntary, and only 3.6 per cent in the Ohio State study and 8.2 per cent in the Farm Bureau survey supported mandatory controls.

Wendell Weller, president of the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation, said several issues are of great concern to farmers this year. Among these, Weller included legislative reapportionment; the need for farm programs which will be more flexible and which will gradually move away from quotas and discrimination against cooperative bargaining and marketing associations by some processors.

A diamond mine located near Murfreesboro, in Pike County, Arkansas, is a tourist attraction. Diamonds weighing five carats or less are given to the finders, and on those weighing more a royalty of 25 per cent of the value of the diamond in the rough is charged.

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruze —

Dear Heloise: Early one morning, my milkman arrived while I was mopping the kitchen.

He is an ex-Navy man suggested that instead of going back forth across the floor with my mop, why not do it as the Navy does?

He says . . . they move the mop in circles while standing in an upright position. This keeps the back erect.

I tried it and realized I could have been saving my back some 15 years!!!

Then I put some liquid wax in an empty detergent bottle (it fits the hand) and just squeezed the wax onto the tile.

This leaves no round marks on the floor from the can (which usually stands on the floor and leaves a mark while I am seeing about a 5-year-old boy every 20 minutes as I have to do) nor do I get too much wax on the floor.

I hope you can read this letter. My son has been playing Superman! . . . plus, spinning tops . . . the door bell is ringing and the 'phone just rang.

JOYCE

I read your letter, honey, and thought that not only washing but waxing your floor in circles is a great idea. You should see my sister's floor which I just waxed! It is beautiful and not a streak to boot.

Now, go kiss that baby.

And . . . that Navy man,

for all of us.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: I use wooden packing boxes from the grocery to make storage shelves, book cases and a toy shelf for my children.

When the slats have been removed and re-nailed close together (get extra boxes to get extra slats) paint them or cover them with adhesive-backed paper.

You can add doors if you wish. These shelves are most attractive and serviceable in any room in the home, but especially a child's room.

BARBARA SHANNON

DEAR HELOISE: Know those cans of spray paint and how the paint invariably ends up under madam's cuticles whenever she sprays something? To avoid this, just put your hand inside a plastic bag before you even start to spray. (The result will be clean hands with no effort.)

HAROLD.

DEAR HELOISE: When I sew on a button, I thread my needle with two or three equal lengths of thread and tie the knot. Makes for a better button-holder-on 'er.

S. E. D.

DEAR HELOISE: Tell the girls not to discard their white gloves just because they are outdated or an awkward length.

I have gloves that I bought in 1952! I just took my scissors and cut the tops off down to the wrists and make short-gloves out of them! They may be finished with a button and buttonhole stitch. One could also use a blanket stitch or a lazy-daisy stitch. I do wish you could see the results.

FERN CORRIVEAU.

DEAR HELOISE: For people who like to use garlic but do not like to find small pieces in their food:

I keep a small board especially for cutting onions and garlic. I take the clove of garlic and chop it on this board with my sharpest knife. Then I sprinkle table salt all over the chopped garlic.

I take a table knife and work the flat side of the blade over the garlic. The salt acts like sandpaper!

You will find that all you have left is garlic oil and pulp (you might have to add more salt as you go along).

I use this "pulp" in my cooking and have the garlic flavor but no pieces of the garlic clove.

MRS. BERT COLEMAN.

Bliss, Eisenhower Confer On Problems

PALM DESERT, Calif. (AP) —Ray C. Bliss, chairman-elect of the Republican National Committee, is here to confer with former President Dwight D. Eisenhower today on problems Bliss described as of "concern to the Republican party on a national scale."

Bliss did not specify the problems, but said on his arrival at Los Angeles Sunday, "There are several major problems that I must discuss with the general."

The 57-year-old Akron, Ohio, insurance executive was elected to succeed Dean Burch as GOP national chairman last month. He takes office April 1.

Windshield Smashed; Youngster, 7, Blamed

A 7-year-old E. 3rd St. youngster was blamed for throwing a stone that broke the windshield of a Midland man's auto Sunday at 1:30 p. m. as he drove on E. 3rd St. near the Chester Bridge, police reported.

Dewey Stillwagon, 840 Ohio Ave., told police he halted his 1964 auto and obtained the boy's name and address from other children in the vicinity.

Meanwhile, Dale Kinney, 1634 St. George St. told police Sunday at 1:40 p. m. a radiator which had been modified to fit his pickup truck was stolen from the yard at his home sometime in the preceding week.

Conservationist Dies

NEW YORK (AP) — Eltinge F. Warner, 85, retired publisher of Field and Stream magazine, died Sunday. Warner was active in many groups as a conservationist and had been a director of the American Wildlife Institute.

California Boys Leave Home For Plush Cave

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Three teen-agers from the exclusive suburb of Brentwood have run away from home — exactly 10 feet away — to a cave rich with the trappings of the affluent society:

An air conditioner.

A television set.

And an icebox stocked with soft drinks.

Huckleberry Finn and Tom Sawyer would never recognize the hideaway to which Greg Johnson, 14; Warren Zager, 13; and Howie Mutz, 14, ran away — nor, perhaps, the explanation for it.

"We wanted to extricate ourselves from mother and father domination," said Warren.

Two weeks ago, after Greg had an argument with his parents, he and Warren decided to run away. But they had a problem: Greg wants to be an architect, Warren an oceanographer — and they didn't want to be too far away from school.

They took sleeping bags, tarpaulins, and transistor radios, went a few feet up the mansion-studded slopes of Mandeville Canyon, and built a cave-like hideaway of sandbags in a niche in the hillside above the Zager home.

The parents didn't exactly approve, but they sanctioned the outing. They even provided food. A pal, Howie, joined the pair.

Then an electric line snaked up the hill from the Zager garage. The rebellion lost bitterness, and peace offerings began to appear: a portable air conditioner — it was stuffy in the cave — a portable television set, electric lights, an icebox.

The boys now are taking their meals at home — but they are still sleeping in the hideout to demonstrate their potential for domestic disobedience.

"Dad threatened to cut off the television Saturday," said Warren Sunday. "It grates me."

"Well," said Greg, "We've still proved we're pretty independent."

Howie looked at the power line linking them with parental authority.

"You never can really get away from your parents," he said.

When you are preparing tomato aspic, you might like to season the tomato juice used with bay leaf, celery tops, sliced onion, peppercorns and a whole clove or two.

Ohio Senate Eyes Vote On Post Choices

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—More fireworks are expected this week in the evenly divided Ohio Senate with Democrats holding a precarious edge due to a Republican's illness.

Seven appointments involving six Republicans and one Democrat probably will be forced to a confirmation vote by Democrats who last week blocked four of 15 submitted by GOP Gov. James A. Rhodes.

Some of the seven are certain to be turned down.

Sen. Fred L. Hoffman, R-Hamilton, is recuperating from surgery in a Cincinnati hospital. Indications are that he will not return for several weeks.

This means that in the meantime, Democrats will continue to prevail 16-15 and that Lt. Gov. John W. Brown will have no chance to cast his tie-breaking vote.

Seventeen votes are needed to confirm appointments or to pass legislation.

Among the appointments pending is that of Republican Joseph A. Cipollone, Parma, safety director, as a public representative to the Industrial Commission, which passes on workmen's compensation claims.

King has called for a public airing this week on interviews by the Ohio Manufacturing Association with persons under consideration for appointment to pass on such claims.

OMA officials say they contacted appointees to check their qualifications inasmuch as compensation claims are paid by employers.

The Senate hassle over appointees has slowed work in that chamber but the House, controlled by Republicans 75-62, is moving along fairly well.

Highlighting House activity this week will be the second hearing before the Education Committee on controversial school bus legislation.

Pending are four proposals calling on school districts to provide bus transportation for pupils of private and parochial schools.

Two proposed measures would require school boards to provide such service, the third would make it permissive, and the fourth would place the matters before voters in the November election.

Beaver Institute Will Hear Zapsic

BEAVER FALLS — Robert Zapsic, executive director of the Beaver County Planning and Zoning Commission and Beaver County Industrial Development Agency, will speak at the final session of the Business - Management Institute Tuesday at 8 p.m. in Old Main at Geneva College.

He will discuss the economic outlook, recent developments, changing conditions and future needs of Beaver County.

The eight - week institute was offered as a service to community owners, managers and executives in business to increase their understanding and abilities in management functions.

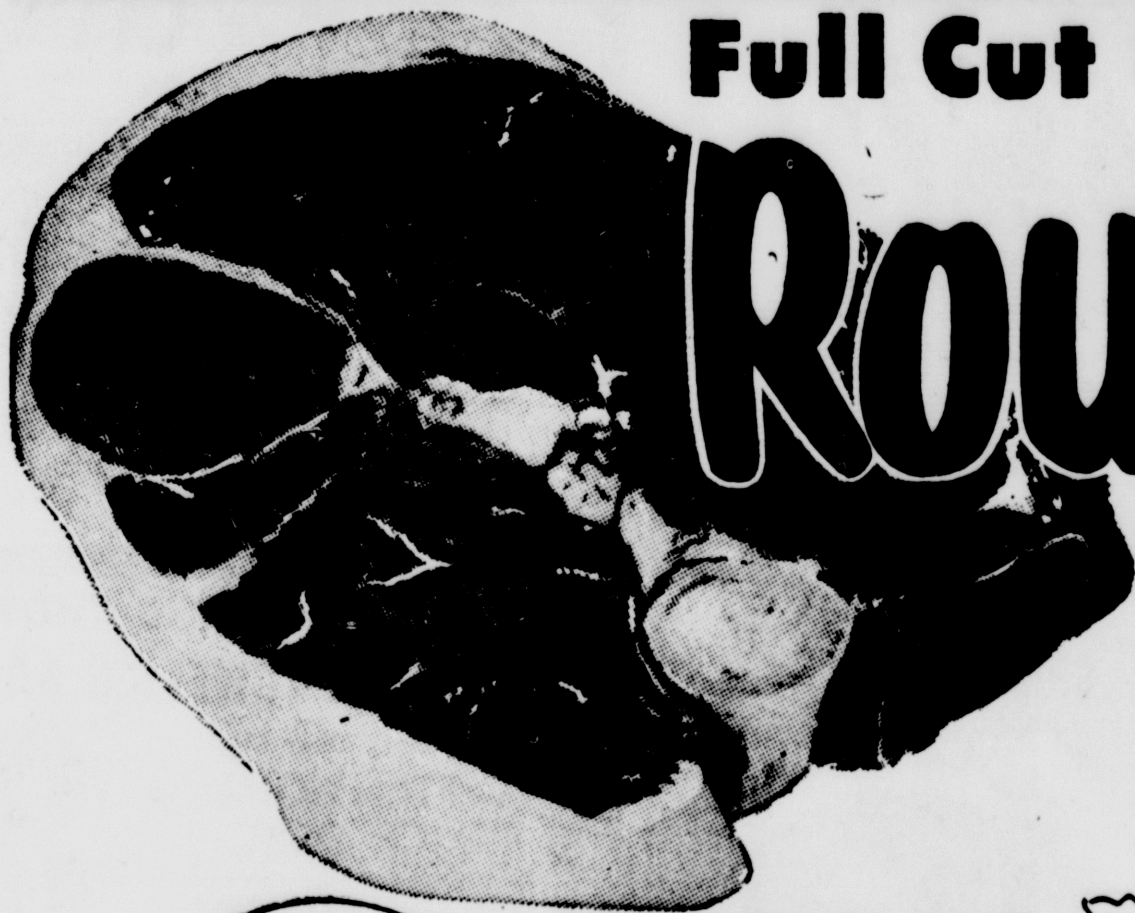

Geneva College and the Beaver Falls Chamber of Commerce co-sponsored the series, which was supported by the Small Business Administration.

Child, 8, Hurt In Car Crash At Wellsville

An 8-year-old Wellsville girl remains in "fair" condition today at City Hospital with injuries suffered in an auto accident Saturday night at 10:10 on Wells Ave. at Legion Alley.

Jody Surace was a passenger in a car driven by her mother, Mrs. Judy Surace of Russell Heights, that slammed into a skidding car driven by Patrick Costigan, 18, of Summitville, according to Wellsville police.

Officers said Costigan was headed into town when he attempted to slow for a car in front of him. As he applied his brakes, his 1961 sedan skidded broadside on the icy pavement.

Mrs. Surace was following him and when she applied her brakes, her car also skidded, ramming Costigan's car, which was demolished.

Moderate damage resulted to Mrs. Surace's compact auto. The child suffered lacerations of the left knee and upper lip.

Two other accidents were investigated by police over the weekend.

Cars driven by Paul Downard, 36, of Irondale R. D. 1 and Lenwood Tivis, 25, of 1799 Arthur Ave., Wellsville, were involved in a collision Sunday at 12:25 a. m. at 12th and Commerce Sts.

Police said Downard was backing into a parking spot. The front of his car went over the center line and Tivis skidded and struck it.

A parked car operated by Frank G. Willis, 19, of Maple Hill, Salineville, was hit in the rear by another operated by John Demko, 78, of Toronto Sunday at 8:35 p. m. on Wells Ave.

Willis told police he halted on the highway to check at a laundromat for his mother, Demko, headed into town, hit the Willis car in the rear, police said.

Field Trip Staged By Nature Group

A field trip in Tomlinson Run State Park Sunday afternoon marked the first activity of the season in a nature study program sponsored by the Hancock County Nature Committee.

Tree and bird identification were the subjects of the outing, at which 37 were present.

Oliver Johnson, county extension agent, said today that although reservations are filled for the four indoor lectures being presented in conjunction with the program, there is no limit on attendance for the field trips.

The next activity will be an indoor lecture, "The Four Seasons," by Albert Tenney of the Forest Audubon Club of Steubenville. The color slide introduction to nature and conservation will be presented at the Courthouse annex in New Cumberland Thursday at 7:30 p. m.

150 At VFW Dinner

EAST PALESTINE — About 150 attended a Veterans of Foreign Wars District 6 dinner meeting at the VFW post home Saturday night. Representatives of 36 area posts and auxiliaries attended sessions Sunday at the annual spring conference.

Group Meets At Salineville

Spring activities were discussed at a meeting of the Loyal Men's Bible Class at a meeting Friday night at the Salineville Church of Christ.

George Leishman, teacher, led devotions, and Ernest Newhouse was in charge of the Bible lesson. Norman Guess and Glenn Guess screened films of a trip through the Southwest.

Plans were made for a membership drive. Gillis Earl, president, was in charge. Harold Johnson and Wilfred Burnip served lunch.

The class will meet March 26.

Frank Wargo, son, David, and daughter, Rosemary, of Summitville visited here Friday.

Mrs. Viola Allison is visiting relatives at Augusta.

The Ready for Duty Class of the Methodist Church will meet Tuesday night with Mrs. Carl Gamble of Academy Ave.

Reserve Unit In City Will Enroll Recruits

Co. A, 7th Battalion, 68th Armor, the local Army Reserve unit, now is accepting enlistments of men with or without prior service, Capt. James E. Fox, commanding officer, said today.

Interested men may attend one of the regular Tuesday night drills or contact Lt. Edwin Stahl Monday through Friday at the Poplar Ln. Armory, he said. The telephone number is 385-5026.

The unit will hold a drill Tuesday night at 7:30 at the Armory. Classes on "Tank and Armored Infantry Operations" will be presented by M. Sgt. Charles Kelly and Sgt. Larry Miller.

The unit's rifle team will meet tonight at 7 at the Wellsville firing range, Capt. Fox announced.

Church Women Slate Meeting At Clarkson

The Women's Association of the Clarkson United Presbyterian Church will meet Tuesday night at 7:30 at the manse at New Waterford.

Mrs. Marie Lipp is in charge of the program which will include a mission film. Hostesses will be Mrs. Velma Watson and Mrs. Myrna Dyke.

The Good News Class will meet Wednesday night at 7:30 at the annex.

The Building Committee of the Church will meet tonight at 7 at the church annex.

Mardi Gras Highlight

King, Queen Picked During South Side Fete

Miss Bonnie Rogers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Rogers of Shippingport, was crowned queen of the annual Mardi Gras at South Side High School at Hookstown Saturday night.

David Trimble, who was named king, is shown placing the crown on her head. Trimble is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Trimble of Georgetown.

In the Fairykins parade of floats, grade 8-A won first place in the high school division with its entry, "Owl Pussy Cats." The fifth grade took first place in the elementary division with "Jack n' Jill."

About 1,000 attended the Mardi Gras and some 400 were served at the smorgasbord.

The annual affair was sponsored jointly by the South Side Citizens Association and the South Side Parent-Teacher Association.

Life Insurance Contract Signed For City's Staff

The Prudential Insurance Co. of America was awarded a new contract on life insurance coverage for city employees when the Board of Control met Saturday afternoon at the bedside of Safety - Service Director Robert E. Vodrey, a patient in City Hospital.

Prudential, which had the previous contract, offered the $1,000 life insurance coverage at a rate of 97.7 cents per month per employee when the board opened bids Tuesday. The gross premium would be $151.92 per month, the company said.

The city provides $1,000 life insurance on all employees under 65 with the coverage dropping to $500 for those over 65. The city pays the entire premium as part of the fringe benefits granted employees about two years ago.

Under the old contract, Prudential's rate was $1.05 a month per $1,000 for those under 65. Vodrey and Mayor Merrill D. Hall comprise the board. Also attending the meeting were George S. Bloomgren, who serves as secretary, and Solicitor Joseph W. Cooper.

City Completes Plans On Borrowing Grader

Arrangements have been made to borrow a grader from Herman Brothers of Youngstown, general contractor on the St. Clair Ave. improvement, while a new $11,000 city grader is deadlined, Mayor Merrill D. Hall said today.

The two arms supporting the blade on the heavy-duty Galion grader were snapped Friday afternoon while the machine, which was delivered Feb. 22, was scraping snow and ice.

Because Harry Unkefer of Minerva, the distributor from whom the grader was purchased, is out of the state, no meeting to discuss the repair has been set, the mayor said.

Changes Studied For Controls On TV 'Prime Time'

NEW YORK (AP) — Federal Communications Commission Chairman E. William Henry says the subject of network ownership of programs in prime evening television time is on the FCC's Friday agenda.

In Washington Sunday night, Henry said the commission had been discussing the subject for some time, but that he doubted any action would be taken Friday at the closed meeting.

When action is taken, Henry said, "We'll issue an order saying 'this is our thinking' about the matter and then I'm sure we'll have public hearings on any proposals."

Henry said earlier this year the commission intended to study a proposal that prime evening viewing time be opened to competition from independent programming sources.

In another development Sunday concerning the major networks, James T. Aubrey Jr. resigned as president of Columbia Broadcasting System's television network division.

Aubrey's resignation was announced by CBS President Frank Stanton. Aubrey was unavailable for comment. Aubrey, 46, headed CBS television for four years.

He will be replaced by John A. Schneider, recently general manager of CBS-owned television stations in Philadelphia and New York. Schneider, 38, has been with CBS for 15 years.

Building Slowed By Bad Weather

Extremely unfavorable weather virtually forced a near halt in construction in East Liverpool in February, with only two permits issued by Mayor Merrill D. Hall's office.

The two permits, both authorizing remodeling jobs, totaled only $1,500, down $10,067 from five permits issued in January for $11,567.

Dynamic Drugs of Canton received a permit to remodel a building at 507 Market St. for a discount drug store with the work estimated to cost $1,000. The other permit was issued to John E. Bevington to remodel a home at 1040 Monaca St. The work was estimated to cost $500.

Al Gloeckner received a permit to tear down a two-story home at 1063 Avondale St. The removal cost was estimated at $1.

4 Fire Departments Given False Alarms

False alarms were turned in to the East Liverpool, Chester, Newell and Lawrenceville fire departments within a 30-minute span early Sunday morning, leading authorities to believe a lone misguided "prankster" was responsible for the series.

East Liverpool firemen responded to the false alarm from Box 19 at Mulberry and Locust Sts., close to the Youth Harbor. The other three departments responded to alarms given by telephone.

Asst. Chief Alfred VanDyne warned a false alarm leaves the perpetrator subject to arrest. It might result in damage to equipment or injury to firemen, he explained.

Falls Hurt Man And Woman; Boy, 18, Injured By Bar Bell

A city man and woman hurt in separate falls and a youth injured by a bar bell over the weekend were in "fair" condition today at City Hospital, where 11 other district residents were treated after separate mishaps.

Frank Irving, 55, of 1209 Jennings Ave., an Ohio Power Co. executive, suffered fractures of the right wrist in a fall in the basement Saturday.

Mrs. Virginia Stanley of Coolidge Ave. received a fractured right lower arm in a fall down steps Saturday.

Daniel Painter, 18, son of Mrs. Margaret Painter, 223 W. 8th St., was admitted Saturday night with bruises and a laceration of the right heel after a bar bell fell onto his foot.

David Michael Shaw, 1, son of Ralph Shaw of Simmons St., was treated Sunday night for a cut of the lower lip after he fell from a couch.

Raymond Hanna, 11, son of Mrs. Marcella Hanna, 1023 Ohio Ave., received a sprain of the right wrist when he tossed a ladder over the river bank yesterday.

While at work on an auto, Paul Davis, 21, of 136 E. Main St., Salineville, suffered injuries to the left hand and wrist.

Mrs. Helen Lorena Donaldson, 806 Aten Ave., Wellsville, was treated for rib injuries suffered getting into an auto.

Shirley Roberts of M. C. 21 was treated yesterday afternoon for burns of the right forearm. Pat Smith, 30, of 240 Thompson Ave. was treated early Sunday morning for abrasions of the upper right eyelid suffered when he was struck in the eye.

Mrs. Madalyn Starkey of 333 2nd St., Chester, was treated Saturday for injuries to a foot on which a pot of flowers fell while she was at work at the Riverview Florists.

Mrs. Pearl May Work of 230 1/2 W. 9th St. received an injury to the right shoulder in a fall.

Mary Ellen Kinsey, 5, daughter of Herman Kinsey of Rogers R. D. 1, suffered a cut of the back of the head in a fall onto concrete.

Thayer Beal, 54, of Hookstown was treated for rib bruises suffered in a home mishap.

William Manuel, 36, of Akron, a truck driver, suffered lacerations of the head when struck with a piece of angle iron while loading his truck at the Mississippi Lime Co. on Nevada St., Wellsville.

Midland Faces Tall Gateway In Quarter-Final Tilt

By BOB DUFFY
Review Sports Editor

Midland came up with a quick decision in its WPIAL tournament opener. In fact, the outcome was pretty well cut and dried in the opening minute as the Leopards "pressed" North Union right out of the tourney by a one-sided 90-54 margin.

While 4,914 fans looked on at the Pitt Fieldhouse Saturday night, the Leopards punched in promptly at 7 o'clock and went right to work.

Only 38 seconds had elapsed and Midland owned a 6-0 lead as North Union, a team that had won 21 of 22 games, completely wilted under the tight press thrown up by Hank Kuzma's five.

THIS SET the pattern of the game and before Kuzma called off the press Midland was comfortably in front 28-5 when the first quarter ended.

After the contest, Kuzma expressed satisfaction with the press put on by his team. "They did a good job. We got the jump on them. The press at the start of the game made the big difference. I also was pleased with our balanced scoring, everybody helped out."

The victory moves Midland to a quarter-final match with 6-10 Cliff Parsons and his Gateway teammates.

LED BY Parsons, who scored 24 points and grabbed 19 rebounds, Gateway eliminated Washington, 62-51, in the second game of the tourney double-header Saturday night.

The Midland-Gateway game is set for Tuesday at 9 as action shifts to the Civic Arena. Preceding that contest will be a match between Mt. Lebanon and Norwin. The survivors of these two games will advance to the semi-finals Friday night at 8.

Leopards 'Press' North Union, 90-54

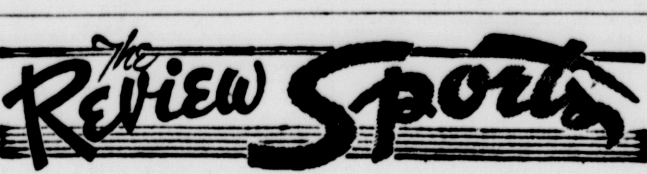

The combination of Midland's height advantage, its press and 56 per cent shooting mark turned its tourney start into a runaway.

Substituting freely, Kuzma used all 14 players who dressed for the contest.

OUTSIDE of a brief flurry late in the second quarter, North Union followers didn't have much to cheer about.

Midland held a 46-27 advantage at halftime and with the regulars returning to the court in the third quarter moved the count to 68-37.

Four Midland starters balanced out the scoring, but Ron Brown, shining defensively and going great guns from the inside, led the way with 21 points.

Brown took 12 shots and made nine and scored 13 of his total in the first half.

BACKCOURT ace Norm Vanlier scored 18 points and had several clever assists in bouncing passes to his teammates. The fabled Sim Hill, 6-6 pivot star, added 16, connecting on six of 12 attempts, while Brent Lake contributed 14.

Steve Alston, Midland's other starter, pitched in six points, all in the first quarter as he hit from outside on his pet push shot.

In the rebounding department, Hill and Brown shared honors, each grabbing 15.

MIDLAND'S only noticeable weakness in the opening game was battling a press put on by North Union. The Rams pressed the Leopards into several turnovers to bounce back slightly late in the second quarter, but Midland's lead was far too much to overcome.

Brent Watson, a slender guard, paced North Union with 16 points. The team's top scorer, Gene Painley, added 14 and high-jumping Ted Martin finished with 12.

North Union fired 33 per cent, dropping in 24 of 72.

MIDLAND started the scoring off the opening tip when Brown was fouled and converted both tries. Two quick steals gave Vanlier and Brown baskets and the Leopards had scored six points in 38 seconds.

Midland ran the shutout to 10-0 before Martin scored North Union's first basket. Brown led the first quarter scoring with seven points.

The victory was the 22nd in a row for Midland and the 90 points were only two shy of the WPIAL tourney single game record of 92 set by Uniontown in the 1961 event.

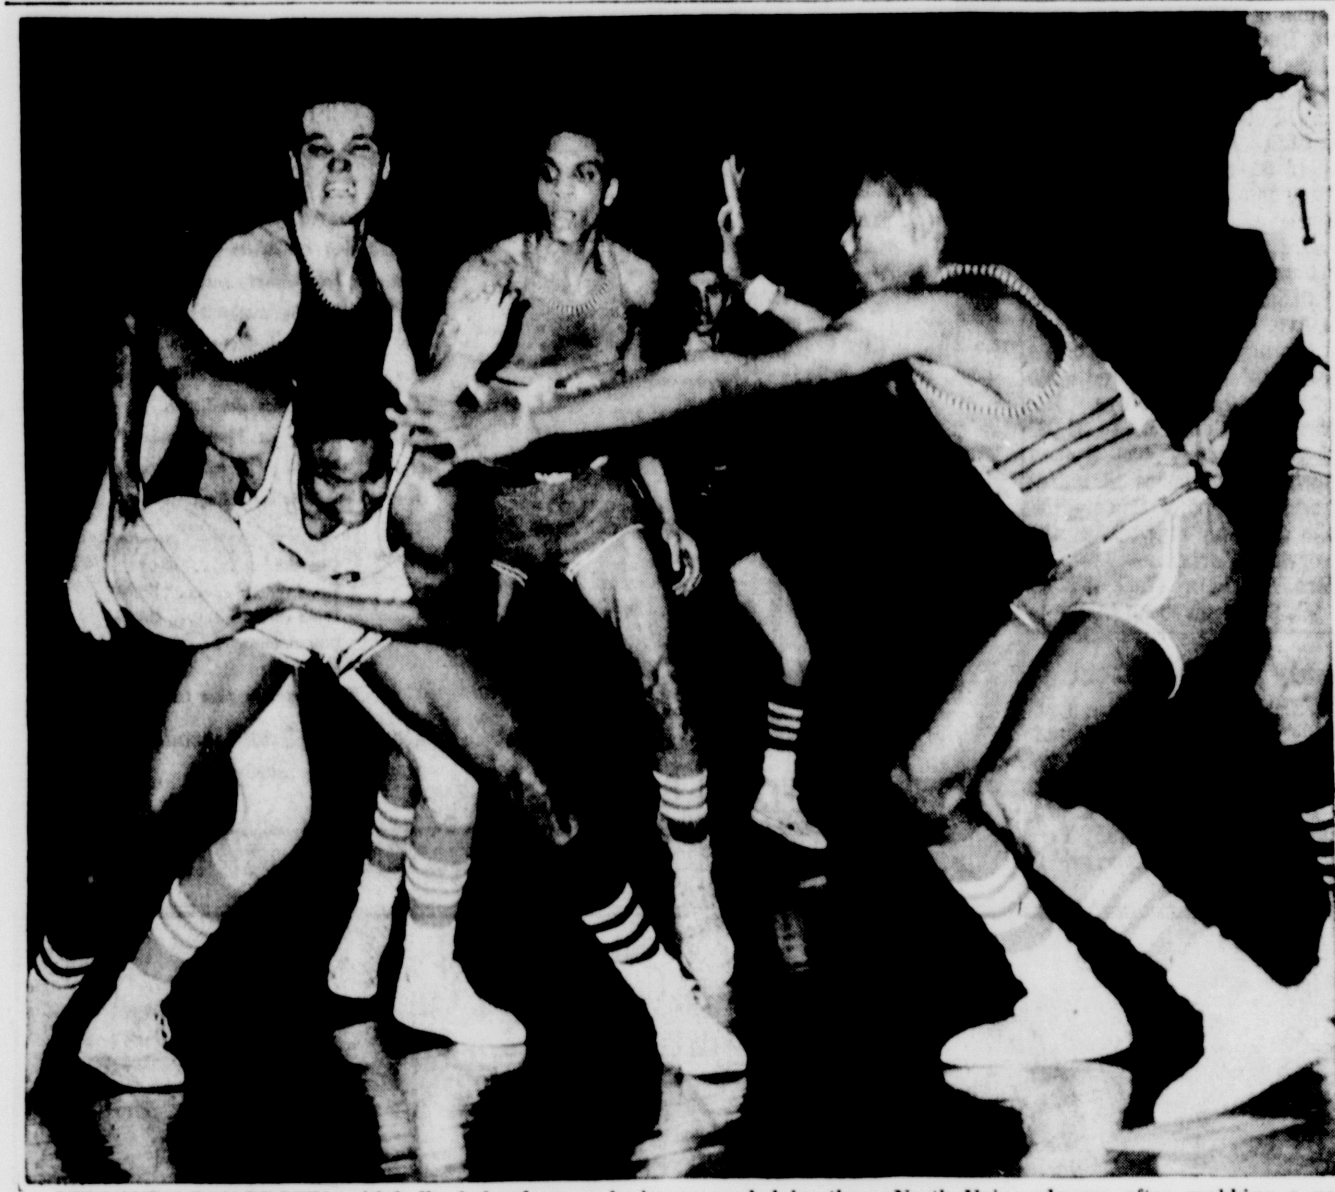

Midland has won 46 of its last 47 games, the last defeat coming at the hands of Uniontown, 46-43, in last year's WPIAL championship game, a setback the Leopards hope to avenge this season.

Carnes Nets 20; Bears End On 10-10 Note

Oak Glen grabbed a lead in the fourth quarter then hung on to outlast visiting Winterville, 65-64, in the season's finale for both schools Saturday night.

Coach Bob Starkey's Bears wound up batting .500 this season by winning 10 and losing the same number.

The contest also served as the final tuneup for Region 1 basketball tournament which opens Wednesday at Oak Glen.

Oak Glen is paired with Weirton Wednesday at 8 p. m. while Follansbee meets Wellsburg in the other first round battle Thursday. The two winners will play for the Region championship Saturday.

Dennis Carnes who poured in 20 points plus the late scoring of Dan Clark paced the Bears to their final victory.

A nip and tuck battle most of the way, Oak Glen trailed 32-20 at halftime and was behind 47-46 entering the fourth quarter. The Bears caught fire with Carnes and Clark scoring six points each in the final period and took an eight point lead.

Winterville bounced back and continued to whittle away at the lead before running out of time.

Four Oak Glen cagers broke into the double figures while leading scorer Tom Thayer was held to only two points. Behind Carnes was Clark with 14 while Dan Forsythe added 13 and John Brand 10.

Fred Hastwell paced Coach Lee Patrone's team with 19 while Don Peterson garnered 18.

The Oak Glen reserves took a 61-39 on the chin from the Winterville jayvees.

Qualify For State Tourney

Taylor, Foster Capture Titles In District Meet

Chuck Taylor, an undefeated heavyweight and Whit Foster, a 145-pounder captured District wrestling titles for the Potters and qualified for the state meet at Columbus March 12 and 13.

With Taylor and Foster leading the way, East Liverpool finished fifth as a record field of 146 wrestlers representing 15 schools in the Eastern and Southeastern Districts took part.

Martins Ferry claimed the District title with 68 points with Lancaster second with 61. Bridgeport scored 59, Marietta 55 and East Liverpool 50.

Taylor, who pushed his record to 12-0 for the season, pinned his way to the finals by recording two falls. In the championship match of the heavyweight division, Taylor wrestled to a 2-0 decision over Pete Diehl of Martins Ferry.

Foster, who sports a 15-1 record, claimed the 145-pound belt by blanking Darryl Adkins of Carrollton, 4-0. In two other matches, Foster won decisions by 6-0 and 10-4.

Jerry Piller, East Liverpool's 112-pounder had pinned two opponents but a back injury in the semi-final match prevented him from advancing any farther as he lost the decision in overtime.

Three other East Liverpool wrestlers received medals for placing in the top four. Bob Gamble and Tom Logan gained third place spots and Bob Marshall finished fourth.

Midland Band Loses 14 Coats To Thieves

Coats owned by 14 members of the Midland High School pep band were stolen from a bus parked outside Pitt Fieldhouse Saturday night while the musicians were helping urge on the Leopard basketball team to victory. Principal William Walters said today.

Walters said the combined loss totals about $600. The Ferguson Bus Lines of Beaver Falls, which transported the band to the game, said the loss is covered by insurance.

3 Games Open Sectional AA Play At Steubenville Tuesday

Potters Seek 1st Win Since 1959

East Liverpool and Steubenville Big Red are heavily favored, while Central-Winterville battle rates a tossup when the Sectional Class AA tournament opens with a tripleheader Tuesday night at the Steubenville Community Arena.

Action will get underway at 6:30 when the ever dangerous Big Red five tangles with Jefferson Union. Central and Winterville will take the court at 8 and East Liverpool and Wellsville about 9:30.

Toronto, top seeded with its 9-4 record against Class AA teams, drew the first-round bye and will mark time until Thursday's semi-final round, meeting the winner of the Big Red-JU clash.

COACH Frank Chan's Potters, who finished the season on an

8 — Championship game

11-7 mark, rate the edge in their tournament start on the basis of two victories in the regular season.

The Potters will be out to end their famine in tourney play. East Liverpool hasn't won a tournament game in the last five starts, not since 1959 when JU fell, 85-65.

Chan isn't certain of one starting spot, with the big question mark at guard. He will start either Joe Massey or Ron Kinsey, two senior backcourt men.

THE POTTERS haven't played since the victory over Weirton nine days ago, but in that contest Kinsey drew the starting berth.

The remainder of the lineup will include Frank Taylor, the team's leading scorer, Terry Lawrence, who has recovered from a back injury, Ben Springer and Bob Maltarich. It will be an all-senior lineup for the Potters.

Coach Jack McDevitt's Tigers compiled a 3-11 season mark against Class AA opponents.

Wellsville will have Jeff MacLean, Harry Thornton, Dick Murray, Dick Call and Pat Welch in the starting lineup.

The Potters have defeated all the leading contenders and own two decisions over Wellsville. One was an 89-67 verdict at East Liverpool and an 85-65 victory at Wellsville.

BIG RED enters the tourney as the most dangerous foe, with Harry Reynolds, a sharpshooting forward, leading Coach Walt Owens' club. Big Red closed the season with impressive victories over Massillon and Martins Ferry.

Jefferson Union will enter the competition with a 1-6 mark in the Class AA ranks.

WINTERSVILLE (7-6) and Central (7-9) appear the most even match of the evening. Winterville has been a hot club in the last half of the season, but did drop a tight 65-64 decision to Oak Glen in its finale Saturday. Central has been a hot and cold outfit, with a victory over Big Red its biggest achievement of the campaign.

The winner of the Potter-Wellsville tilt will meet the Winterville-Central survivor in Thursday's semi-final game at 8:30.

COACH FRANK CHAN will pick five out of this half dozen East Liverpool players to start the Sectional Class AA tournament Tuesday when the Potters meet Wellsville at Steubenville. The players are left-to-right—Joe Massey, Frank Taylor, Terry Lawrence, Ben Springer, Bob Maltarich and Ron Kinsey.

Symons Paces Toronto

Southern Ends On 82-61 Setback

Southern Local, an upset winner in its first tourney start by defeating Columbiana, dropped its final regular season game, 82-61, Saturday night at Toronto.

The victory left Coach Paul Kallivoda's Red Knights with an 18-4 record. Toronto was top seeded in the Sectional Class AA tourney and drew a bye in the first round of the event which opens Tuesday night.

Toronto jumped on top early and held a 24-12 advantage at the end of the first quarter and was on top 46-29 at halftime.

Dick Symons, the Knights' 6-4 talented sophomore, paced Toronto with 22 points.

Larry Smith and Glen Stewart, hero of the Columbiana contest, shared honors for Coach Al Gironi's club with 15 each.

Southern Local will meet United Thursday at Struthers in Cazzie Russell seems to take the hero's role in cliffhangers almost as often as the fabulous 007 James Bond of fiction.

Russell, the 6-foot-6 backcourt ace of Michigan's nationally top-ranked college basketball team, has done it again, scoring five points in the last 15 seconds to give the Wolverines a spectacular 80-79 victory over Illinois Saturday.

The victory was the 11th in a row for Michigan, raised the Wolverines' record to 192 and virtually assured them of their second straight Big Ten crown. "That's the fourth time he's won for us this season in the final seconds," said Michigan Coach Dave Strack after the game at Champaign. "He did it against Wichita, Princeton, Indiana and now Illinois. I'm glad to have him on my side."

Sharing the heroics of the last big Saturday night of the season were Bob Camp and Bill Maphis of West Virginia.

The Mountaineers, although beaten 14 times, won the Southern Conference championship tourney at Charlotte, with a two-overtime 70-67 victory over William and Mary in the final.

Camp saved the Mountaineers from defeat in regulation time with a last-minute basket, Maphis did the same with a goal in the last three seconds of the first overtime, then Camp sewed things up by breaking loose for five points in the second OT.

West Virginia's three-game sweep of the tournament, including a 74-72 overtime victory over sixth-ranked Davidson on Friday, put the Mountaineers in the post-season NCAA championship tourney, along with second-ranked UCLA, Princeton, Connecticut and San Francisco. UCLA, 22-2, beat California 83-68 for its fourth straight PAC title. Princeton, 18-5, wrapped up its third straight Ivy League crown by crushing Cornell 107-84. Connecticut, 21-2, won its second straight Yankee Conference title by overwhelming New Hampshire 109-61 and San Francisco, 21-4, took its third WCAC title in a row by whipping St. Mary's Gaels 65-52.

This is the picture today in the NCAA and NIT, the two major post-season tournaments. NCAA-14 teams in with nine still to be named. The 14: St. Joseph's, Pa. 24-1, Eastern Kentucky 19-4, Providence 20-1, Penn State 19-3, Dayton 19-6, DePaul 16-7, Houston 18-8, Colorado State U. 15-6, and Oklahoma City 19-9, in addition to West Virginia 14-14, UCLA, Princeton, Connecticut and San Francisco.

A first-round tripleheader at Philadelphia next Monday pairs Penn State against Princeton, Providence against West Virginia and St. Joseph's against Connecticut. NIT-eight teams named with six spots still open. Army 18-7 and Western Kentucky 17-8 accepted bids Saturday to join Villanova 19-4, Boston College 19-6, Detroit 17-7, St. John's of New York 1-8, Texas Western 17-8 and New Mexico 15-5. Tournament starts March 11.

Oak Glen Wrestlers Unplaced In State

Three Oak Glen wrestlers, who qualified for the state wrestling meet, failed to place in the finals Saturday at Morgantown. Cliff Everly was entered in the 98-pound division, Tom Bowen (168) and Bill Miller (141). Parkersburg with 45 points won the West Virginia High School title while Berkeley Springs was second with 35.

4 Beaver Matmen Move To District

Four Beaver Local wrestlers, one a first place winner, qualified for the Canton District wrestling meet during Sectional tests Saturday at Beaver Local.

The Beaver wrestlers will compete at the Canton District meet next Friday and Saturday at Glenwood High School. The two finalists in each division will qualify for the state meet.

Farnum Shasteen captured the 112-pound division in the Sectional competition, while Tom Postage placed second at 120, Dick Wright was fourth in the 175-pound class and Allan Copestick fourth in the heavyweight class.

The top four wrestlers in each division of the Sectional tournament qualify for the District event.

Ten teams competed and Canton McKinley scored 85 points while North Canton was next with 83. Beaver Local finished sixth with 33.

A total of 600 fans attended the two-day session.

Following are the results:
103 — Terry Lynch (L), Gary Gaumer (NC), Jeff Hicks (CM), Mike Black (L).

112 — Farnum Shasteen (BL), Jim Waters (CM), Mark Evans (NC), Charles Jones (CL).

Besselink Wins Caracas Tourney By 3-Shot Edge

CARACAS (AP) — A couple of thousand bucks in his pocket will make most anyone feel good. It's got Al Besselink "out of this world."

"I am still master of the wedge," the Grossinger, N.Y., pro yelled after he had overcome a two-stroke deficit to gain a three-stroke victory over Wes Ellis Sunday for the title in the Caracas Open golf tourney.

Besselink, two strokes down going into the final round, shot a five-under par 67 for a 273 total, three up on Ellis, the West Caldwell, N.J., pro who had the third-round lead.

But Besselink posted a two-under 33 on the front nine, while Ellis went two over. Besselink got another birdie on the 10th and then breeze home to the $2,000 first prize.

Spain's Ramon Sota was third, one stroke back of Ellis at 277.

Weirton Madonna Claims Catholic Title In W. Va.

HUNTINGTON — Happy Weirton Madonna High School students celebrated today the Northern Panhandle team's first State Catholic basketball championship.

The Blue Dons won the Class AA championship here Sunday with a 73-58 victory over favored Huntington St. Joseph's.

Fairmont St. Peter's defeated Martinsburg St. Joseph's 61-50 to take home the Catholic Class A title.

A fourth quarter hot streak decided the issue between the two Class AA contenders.

Weirton opened up a seven-point lead in the final period after holding a slim 44-43 margin at the third quarter mark.

Joe Tonski, the Blue Dons' high scorer with 27 points, sank seven free throws during the last three minutes to help clinch the victory.

Weirton, twice runner-up for the Class AA crown, beat a St.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: I'm on a diet and am losing weight at the rate of 2 pounds a week. My doctor is very pleased with me because I have gone from 170 pounds to 135.

Last evening my husband and I went into the drug store to get some blades. The druggist, who has always been a friendly person, said, "My, but you look wonderful. Let's see where the weight is coming off."

I was surprised that he would get so personal, especially with my husband standing there. I was even more surprised when my husband said, "Take off your coat and show him, Tessie."

With that, the druggist came around from behind the counter, put his hands around my waist and gave me a couple of pats. I was shocked. My husband said, "Nice, eh?"

When we got out of there I gave my husband a piece of my mind. He said a druggist is like a doctor and it was all right for him to do this. We argued half the night.

Please tell me if I'm wrong. If I am, I will apologize. If not, I want him to know it — for the next time. — TESSIE.

Dear Tessie: It was nice of the druggist to compliment you but the Braille reading was out of order.

It's nice, too, that your husband is proud of your progress, but he should not have invited the druggist to be his guest.

Fact Of Life

Dear Ann: We have three children, 12, 10 and 5. My mother has made her home with us since the first year of our marriage. We all love her dearly.

Grandma is in the hospital and the doctors say she cannot live more than a few more weeks. She keeps asking to see the children and they want to go see her but my husband says we should not allow it. He is afraid they will be frightened when they see how much weight she has lost. He feels the children should remember Grandma as she was. We are also in disagreement as to whether the children should be permitted to attend the funeral. Please give us some guidance. We have discussed this with some close friends and they are divided in their opinions.—T.T.C.

Dear T.T.C.: Take the children to see Grandma. Illness and death are a part of life and you cannot shield your children from it, nor should you try. Let the children know that Grandma is very ill and she will not look the same to them.

Children learn by example. If you are calm and in control of your emotions your children will be strong, too.

The older children should be allowed to attend the funeral. The 5-year-old should be left with friends, if possible. He may not understand what is happening and could cause a disturbance.

Confidentially

TO SEEKING NEW HORIZONS: The "horizons" you describe are neither new — nor are they horizons. Sex is not proof of love. Money is not proof of brains. And pleasure is not contentment.

TO NEED TO KNOW WHY THE CHANGE: It's a fairly safe assumption that when your wife no longer cares whether you get home late — it's later than you think.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Casals Visit Planned At Pittsburgh In April

PITTSBURGH — In a rare public appearance, Pablo Casals, world-famed cellist, will conduct two concerts at the Carnegie Music Hall April 22 and April 24 during a two-week visit at Carnegie Institute of Technology.

Casals, 88, a native of Spain, has been described as the world's greatest living musician. He went into self-imposed exile, first in France and later in Puerto Rico, in protest to the dictatorship of Francisco Franco.

Casals will not play in public during his visit here, a spokesman said.

Bringing Up A Family

By DR. GARRY MYERS

Learning To Count Aids Mental Powers

Perhaps most children could and should learn to count things up to ten inclusive before entering the first grade. Many do so without the effort of anybody to teach them. A few can glibly go on to 100 or more just saying the number - words in right order.

Lots of other children learn Dr. Garry Myers to count to six, eight or ten in this way without associating the name of the number with its meaning.

You may have observed a parent or older brother teaching a youngster three, four or five, to count in this way. Sometimes they grow angry at the little learner when he doesn't remember the name to say next, or gets mixed up. The other day I heard a mother say she has trouble to get her daughter to want "to count" unless she gives her candy or a cookie.

SUPPOSE your child is two or three. He may often hear you refer to two potatoes or two buttons or to a larger number of things. Then it's a good time to say "two potatoes," for example, as you have two of them together. A good time also to ask this child to hand you two spoons, or two spoons or two buttons.

Thereafter, over hours or days he may search about the house to find and bring you two things of the same group. In the newer mathematics such a group is called a set. Did it ever occur to you that it is so much easier for a young child to count real things of one set than of several sets. You would not put two spoons and two buttons in a row for him to count them together. You would put four spoons or four buttons there.

After your little child has learned to count two buttons or to hand you two buttons; or two of any other group set, he is ready to learn the meaning of three buttons, three spoons, etc. Help him enjoy finding you three things of the same group over the next several days or weeks. During the time you also could vary his fun by asking him occasionally to hand you three beans, for example.

BY HAVING a plan in mind, you can do all this good teaching without any formal lessons, but while your little child is with you about the house. Never be in haste to practice this young child in the meaning of four, five or more. Move forward very slowly and gradually.

Seeing how easily he has mastered the name, order and meaning of two and three you will be tempted to have him go on quickly to four, five, six, etc. You may even have him "count" just saying the number names in order.

If, instead, you follow closely the foregoing way, your child on entering the first grade, may really know what these simple number - names mean. There may come a time, instead, as he is practicing in fun at finding three beans (or five beans) for you when he would enjoy having you make clearly the figure three for him and tell him that is its name.

Tell him that this figure stands for three beans, three spoons, three spoons or three of any group of like things.

DOING more of this fun with these easy number concepts, he may find it fun for you to put three beans in a group or row and two more beans together at some distance from the other two beans and tell you how many beans there are altogether. Thus he gets the concept of adding.

My bulletins, "Letting Baby and Tot Learn" and "Home Helps in Arithmetic," may be secured by sending a self-addressed, stamped envelope to me in care of The Review.

Out Of The Air

By RICHARD K. DOAN

Newsman In The Front Line

NBC News officials are not very sympathetic to the recent claims of some critics that the television networks have taken to cranking out bland, historical documentaries devoid of bite.

The clubbing of NBC correspondent Richard Valeriani by an unidentified white man in Marion, Ala., while the newsmen was covering a night march by Negroes was cited as evidence that TV is not staying away from coverage of the controversial stories and illustrations, said NBC News Vice President Julian Goodman, "why we haven't jumped in to announce some of the things we're working on."

Richard Doan

Valeriani, Goodman disclosed, was gathering material for an hour-long news documentary NBC will air in prime time next month on "Who Can Vote?"

NBC also is readying an hour-long "Portrait of Mississippi," which the news executive said "is not intended to be an anti-Mississippi diatribe, but certainly must depict Mississippi as a controversial state."

Goodman said the network had "rather hoped" to get its newsmen and camera crews out of Alabama and Mississippi before giving much publicity to the impending documentaries, for fear of encountering local antagonism, if not obstruction.

INCIDENTALLY, however, "Who Can Vote?" will not deal exclusively with the Negroes' fight for voter registration in the South, but will look at New York's attitudes toward Puerto Ricans and Chinese and California's attitude toward Mexicans.

NBC had expected initially to air the "Vote" special on March 9, but that date now has been reserved for a news documentary on "The Pope and the Vatican," described by Goodman as showing the "symbolical crossroads" at which the Catholic church now stands.

The voting report probably will be scheduled around mid-March.

Goodman also reported that NBC's next "White Paper" — this season's third, following "The Decision To Drop the Bomb" and "Oswald and the Law" — will deal with "Terror in the Streets" and has been booked for April 6.

THE PROGRAM will focus on the rise in crime across the country, including recent terrorism in New York City's suburbs, and report what citizens and public agencies are attempting to do about it.

Goodman further disclosed that NBC is preparing a 30-minute "LBJ Report No. 2," summarizing President Johnson's runs, hits and errors, for showing May 2. A companion piece, "The Loyal Opposition," will be aired the following week.

"LBJ Report No. 1" was put together and shown the week-end Mr. Johnson took office following President Kennedy's assassination.

NBC News Producer Ted Yates, whose most recent contribution was "Viet Nam: It's a Mad War," is trying to shape up a news special examining the President's Great Society, but Goodman said it was a subject found "so far rather hard to depict." The project might not jell, he indicated.

THE THREE national TV networks may join in a simultaneous telecast of a live program from Europe to celebrate the launching late in March of Comsat's high-flying Early Bird communications satellite.

The Early Bird inaugural show would be, of course, a sort of encore to the three-network "live from Europe" spectacular staged when the first Telstar went into orbit.

The difference in the case of Early Bird is that it will be a so-called synchronous satellite, stationed permanently high above the Atlantic, instead of orbiting the earth, and permitting 24-hour continuous transmission. Telstar could be used only during its visible "passes."

EARLY BIRD also will be available, after a five-week experimental period, for commercial use. Telstar, and the similar relay satellites, were experimental vehicles only.

Fred W. Friendly, president of CBS News, and William R. McAndrew, executive vice president of NBC News, were among U.S. network officials attending meetings in London last week with Comsat and European Broadcasting Union officials to set up plans for temporary use of Early Bird, assuming its launch is successful.

Family Cat Keeps Hiding Place Secret

WICHITA, Kan. (AP) — Mrs. H. W. Shelton thought she heard a cat's meow coming from her car but after stopping to look for a kitty several times she couldn't find the source of the noise.

She drove some 25 miles to a friend's house and as she got out of the car there stood her family cat, Rhubarb, wet and dazed.

Rhubarb rode home inside the car and never revealed his hiding place on the car.

Keep In Trim

By IDA JEAN KAIN

Enjoy Pre-Spring Slimming Session

Spring is just three weeks and a day away. Oh, to be slimmer when spring comes to town. Stop daydreaming and take action.

Spring belongs to the young in heart! You can be six to eight pounds lighter, and inches slimmer, in three short weeks.

Don't go on a diet! Drastic, short-term dieting is so futile, for such diets trap you into a vicious off-again, on-again circle. Repeated failure tends to fix the thought in your mind that you simply cannot control your weight and there is no use in trying.

This time, eat to slim down. Decide to enjoy your pre-spring slimming session. A friend explained that the slimming tip that helped her the most was the suggestion to savor each mouthful of food. Savor for flavor. Enjoy that one mouthful before you fork up more food.

THIS PRACTICE accomplishes two things: When you enjoy what you are eating, less food gives you a sense of satisfaction. The time element is important. The mechanism of satiety takes time to be effective. With fast eating you overshoot the mark before you feel satisfied.

Another dieter reported: "I enjoy my well planned, low calorie meals far more than I did overeating. For the first time in years I appreciate the taste of food. I no longer eat just to fill up."

Ida Jean Kain

A dieter asks this significant question: "At the end of a low calorie meal, if I am still hungry, what foods can I take seconds on without ruining the effect of the diet?"

Good question! Have a second helping of the kind of food that contributes more to satiety than it does to calories. Take a small second helping of the protein food... lean meat, fish or fowl. Or, have a three-quarter ounce piece of cheese at the finish of the meal.

GREEN vegetables, or seconds on salads, while low in satiety enhance the feeling of well-being because of the quality of bulk they provide, a factor in feeling content.

It helps to be in-the-know on nutrition. If you take seconds on bread, potatoes or dessert, you boost calories without adding significantly to the satisfaction of the meal.

Late afternoon is the critical time for an energy pick-up. This will prevent that all-gone feeling and cut ahead of uncontrollable hunger. A pick-up of 100 calories can save the day and prevent overeating at dinner.

To break the habit of overeating, get up from the table while you could still enjoy more food. Twenty minutes later you will feel contented, and the practice is beautifully slimming. You can happily forget about food.

Send stamped, self-addressed, long envelope for Eat To Build Leanness. Address request to Ida Jean Kain, care of The Review. Post card requests cannot be answered.

Long Says U.S. Should Do Whatever It Takes To Win

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Russell B. Long says in his judgment "we will do whatever is necessary to win" the war in South Viet Nam "and if Communist China comes in we will take them on and if Russia wants to deal herself a hand, we will go ahead, but there will be no sanctuary."

The assistant Senate Democratic leader declared, "We have the courage to face these people and they might as well know it now as some other time as many of us feel we would do just as well to fight here as somewhere else."

Long gave his views Sunday during a radio-television interview, NBC's Meet the Press. In reply to a question on whether the North Vietnamese capital of Hanoi should be bombed, he said:

"I am not sure that is necessary at this point, but I think that the aggressor should know we would go that far if we must do that to win, and even further." He said more U.S. ground forces should be sent into South Viet Nam if necessary.

The Louisiana's views came as Capitol Hill got ready for another week of debate on U.S. policies in Viet Nam.

Rep. Melvin R. Laird of Wisconsin, chairman of the House Republican Conference, said in a speech prepared for House delivery:

Rain Assists Water Table In February

Below average temperatures and above average rainfall marked February's weather, Edwin Copeland, U. S. weather observer at Millport, reported today in his monthly summary.

The temperature last month averaged 26.7 degrees, more than two degrees under the normal 28.9 degrees for the month, he said.

There were six nights of below zero readings, with a low of minus 12 degrees on Feb. 4 and a high of 61 degrees Feb. 12.

Rainfall totaled 3.66 inches, well over the normal 2.25 for February, Copeland reported. It was a boost for the closely watched underground water table.

During the last three months, there has been a gain of 4.71 inches over the normal amount of rainfall for the period.

Snowfall amounted to 8.5 inches — a half inch over the norm. With 23 inches of snow recorded so far this winter, there could be expected at least six more inches to meet the normal amount of snow.

"But I hope we don't get it," Copeland said.

There were 10 clear days, six partly cloudy days and 12 cloudy days, for a total amount of 45 per cent sunshine — 10 per cent above normal.

Most Americans know that a nisei is a second-generation Japanese, born and educated in America. Less familiar are the terms issei, for a first-generation Japanese, and sansei, for a member of the third generation. A Japanese born in America but educated in Japan is a kibe.

Students At Oberlin Leading 'Fast' Life

OBERLIN, Ohio (AP) — One 48-hour fast by Oberlin College students protesting against U. S. policy in Viet Nam ends today and a second will be started by another group.

Gordon Roberts, one of the spokesmen for the 34 students who started a two-day fast at 5 p.m. Saturday, said "10 to 20 more students" will start going without food at 5 p.m. today and fast for 48 hours.

Roberts, a sophomore from Huntington, N. Y., said that none of the original hunger strikers would take part in the second fast. He said the strikers visit the school's cafeteria during mealtime to pass out literature and talk to other students in an effort to gain support for their movement.

At the outset of the fast Saturday, the students issued a statement asking the United States "to take the initiative to call for a cease-fire" in Viet Nam. It also called for "negotiation" as called for by U. Thant (U.N. secretary-general) and Pope Paul VI—to facilitate the speedy withdrawal of all foreign troops from Viet Nam.

Mill Shipping Due To Go On At Brisk Pace

CLEVELAND (AP)—The high level of mill shipments of finished steel is expected to continue through April, Steel magazine said today.

March shipments will top those of each of the first two months this year, and April shipments are expected to be even larger, the metalworking weekly said.

Steel mills are not oversold as much as they are "under-produced," it added.

"As a whole," the publication said, "producers have been careful not to sell more than they thought they could make, but equipment, pushed hard in supplying tonnage for heavy consumption and for simultaneous building of consumer inventories, has all too frequently broken down. In other cases, new equipment has not come into full production as soon as expected."

"Difficulties in procuring an adequate supply of trucks and railroad cars are hampering shipments of steel from mills. In some cases, winter weather has been an obstacle."

The magazine said that despite production problems, customers are getting enough steel to prevent shortages on their production lines, but they are having trouble building inventories as a "hedge against a Steelworkers' strike."

Production in the week ended Feb. 20 was an all-time high of 2,757,000 tons, said Steel. The old record, 2,732,000 tons, was set in the week ended Dec. 12, 1959. Steel said 2,775,000 tons, equivalent to an annual rate of 144 million tons, was expected in the week ended Feb. 27.

Steel's price composite on No. 1 grade heavy melting scrap last week slipped 50 cents to $36.50 a gross ton.

Musty Document Can Be Restored

Question: I had some important documents stored in our basement.

Recently, when I took them upstairs, I discovered that they had a mildewed appearance and a musty odor. What can I do about this without ruining the documents altogether?

Answer: There are a few companies which make a business of restoring old and valuable documents and books, but the cost is rather high.

If it is vital that the documents be returned to something approximating their original condition, and you wish to spend the money, you might try one of them. If not, you can make an effort to do the job yourself, recognizing that if the documents are in very poor condition, you may not achieve the results you desire.

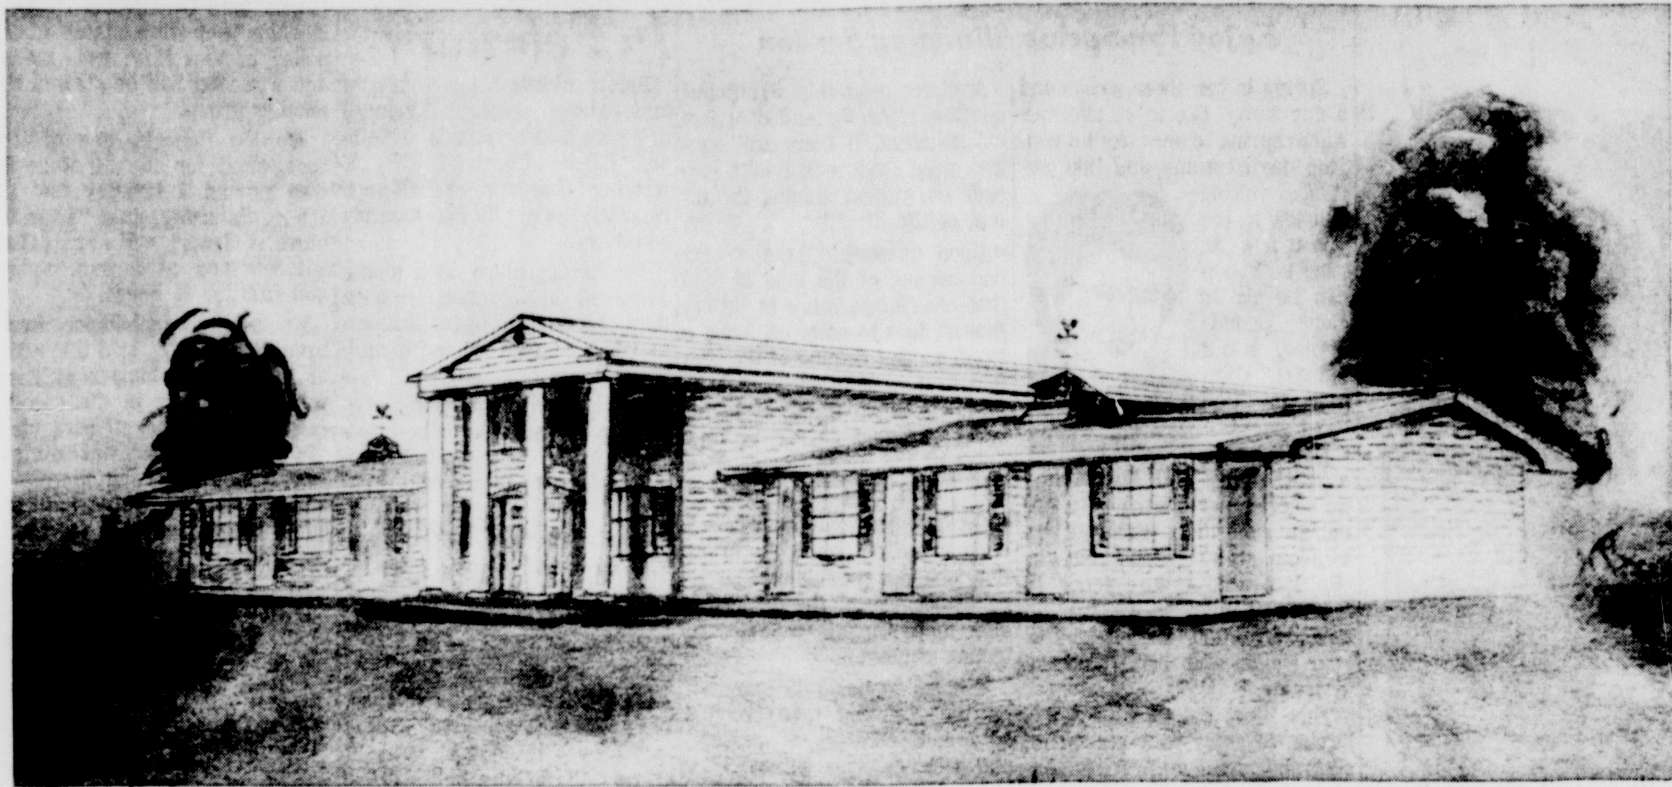

If there is actual visible mildew, try rubbing gently with a dry cloth. Then spread out the papers and leave them some place where there is a movement of air, but not where they might be damaged by rain.

Once you are satisfied that you have done everything possible, take steps to prevent any further damage to the documents. Place them in one of the airtight, transparent coverings sold for that purpose. Added protection can be provided by first giving them a spraying with a chemical used for preserving papers and photos. It leaves a hardened film that in no way damages the article sprayed. Commercial artists, photographers and advertising men often make use of this spray.

LANSING (AP)—The State Conservation Department says Arthur Sprague of Harrison, who took out his license in time to go ice fishing before his 97th birthday, is Michigan's oldest active licensed fisherman.

Construction To Start On $100,000 Motel

Construction will begin in two weeks on this $100,000 motel on E. 3rd St. at the site of the old Hill property off College St., adjoining the Patterson - Wetzel Cleaners.

The 24-unit motel will be constructed by Tom McElroy, 621 Owens Rd., Wellsville.

He said there will be eight units across the front on the street level, five in the rear, seven on a lower level in the rear and four above the main office. The front eight will be opened in June.

A Colonial-style architecture is planned throughout the entire building. Robert F. Beatty is the architect.

The motel will be of brick, with brick facing to be used as the decor of the interior walls. Mrs. Gloria McElroy, wife of the owner, will decorate the rooms in early American and Colonial style.

Several articles from the Hill residence will be salvaged for use in the decoration, including a brass chandelier which will be placed in the main lobby, a curving stairway and walnut shutters.

The interior walls that are not brick will be walnut paneled. Early American furnishings will be used. Each unit will have individual heat and air-conditioning, along with television and ceramic tile bath.

A balcony will be used in the rear, where the building faces the Chester bridge. Mr. and Mrs. McElroy operate an antique shop on College St. The business will be transferred to the large office of the motel.

Parking space will be provided in the front and rear.

McElroy is employed in the production control department at the Midland Works of the Crucible Steel Co.

If You're Buying A Sander, Get One That Does The Job

By ANDY LANG
AP Newsfeatures

Nothing pleases a dealer more than to have a customer say, "I'll take one of each."

But most purchasers have to make a choice—and this involves a decision on what item will give the most for the money.

In the selection of power tools in general, and electric sanders in particular, the best buy is not the least expensive, even if the machine is of good quality. It is the one which does the job properly.

A small vibrator sander isn't going to be of much help if most of your sanding operations are heavy duty. Nor will a disc sander satisfy your needs if you are primarily concerned with the final finishing of wood or metal.

Granted, then, that the type of sander chosen is most important, let's look at some of the more common kinds of portable power sanders now on the market.

The vibrator sander has a magnetic power unit and operates only on AC because it is activated by the pulsations of alternating current. It is an excellent light-duty machine that should not be expected to be a workhorse.

An orbital or oscillating sander, which operates on either AC or DC, will handle larger jobs. Like the vibrator sander, it is essentially a final finishing sander, but is strong enough to handle rough sanding on occasions.

Portable belt sanders, with abrasive belts which run continuously over pulleys or drums, are what might be called power-plus machines.

They handle any job which falls into the rugged category. However, in this case, as with the sanders mentioned above, the type of abrasive used plays a part in what can be done.

Thus, using a fine grade abrasive belt would enable the belt sander to tackle delicate work, but the operator would have to handle the machine carefully to get the best results.

The disc sander, either as a separate machine or when used at the business end of a portable electric drill, is mainly for the rapid removal of stock where an exceptionally fine finish is not important.

It can be a life-saver when used for this purpose, but has a tendency to leave swirl marks on a surface and so is not generally recommended for final finishing operations. A new type of sanding disc does away with this tendency if used with extra care, yet doesn't change the principle that it's a tool for rugged work.

Portable sanders get a job done faster. But they don't take the place of patience.

Whether you use an electric or a hand sander, nothing substitutes for careful operating procedures. More than with any other part of woodworking, sanding continually asks you to take your time.

Neighborliness—In Sickness, Health

HUTCHINSON, Kan. (AP)—Three farm neighbors of near Burton, Kan., wonder if they carried their neighborliness too far.

Mrs. Mabel Fryar and Mrs. Ed Baughman shared a Hutchinson hospital room when they became ill. Harold Stalcup, the third neighbor, occupied the room next door.

Just like on the farm, the three shared a hospital telephone line.

You Can Help Check Falls With Wrought-Iron Railing

The average house will have one or more short and perhaps steep stairways.

In many cases there will be a wood hand rail which has seen its best days, and more often than not it will be shaking and insecure. Household accidents of a serious nature frequently can be traced to this particular defect, as we have the habit of relying upon hand rails when using stairs.

This type of rail should be replaced by a wrought-iron unit which will never weaken or deteriorate with age and use and which any home owner can install with ease.

The rail is made of a length of inch-and-a-half by quarter-inch flat iron strip, bent at the upper end to form a flange which rests against the wall, and bent at the lower end to form a graceful curve which flanges out to rest upon the lower step.

One center or intermediate support is fashioned to match the lower end of the rail, and is welded to it. Where the rail or center support touches the wall or steps, it is drilled to take a substantial screw at least two inches long.

Coffee Table Top Brings Questions

Question: We have a coffee table which I believe has a varnish finish. I want to put on a laminated plastic top.

Can you tell me (1) whether the varnish has to be removed first and (2) whether I can leave the edges of the table as they are?

Answer: In order to insure a perfect bond between the present top and the new one you will have to remove the varnish. If you don't, the varnish may come loose in time and so, then, will the laminated plastic.

If you use one of the cements which bond on contact, be sure to allow it to dry sufficiently before attempting to put on the new top.

The directions on the cement container will tell you how long to wait. There are slight variations in waiting time, depending on the brand used, but it's usually anywhere from 30 minutes to two hours.

Yes, you can leave the edges of the table as they are or you can cover them with wood veneer strips to match the laminated plastic or you can use lengths of the plastic itself.

OFF THE RECORD

How Can I?
By ANNE ASHLEY

Q.—How can I prevent a mirror from constantly fogging?
A.—Apply a thin film of soap with a moistened finger, then polish the glass off with a soft cloth or cleansing tissue.

Q.—How can I remove tea stains from chinaware?
A.—Salt and vinegar usually does an effective job of this.

Q.—How can I prevent the bottom crusts of my fruit pies from becoming soggy from the juices of the fruits?
A.—Bake the shell of your pie for about five minutes before putting in the fruit filling, and this will prevent the juice from penetrating the crust.

Q.—How can I be sure that my hand-knitted garments will retain their shape when I launder them?
A.—Wash in mild suds, then pat into the proper size and shape. Dry thoroughly. When dry, hold a steam iron an inch above the garment, then move it slowly back and forth over the entire surface until the steam has penetrated it thoroughly, never actually touching the garment with the iron.

Q.—How can I clean out hard-to-remove sediment that clings to the bottoms of bottles or glass vases?
A.—By filling the vessel half-full with warm soapsuds, then adding a handful of carpet tacks, then shaking the whole business vigorously. This will loosen the sediment in jig-time.

Q.—How can I make for easier spreading of hard butter?
A.—How about creaming it? You can do this by beating the butter vigorously with a wooden spoon — or you can also do a fine job of this with your electric mixer.

Q.—How can I remove rust stains from an enameled sink or bathtub?
A.—A mixture of ½-cup of grapefruit juice and one tablespoon of salt makes a good rust remover.

Junior Editors Quiz on MONTHS

QUESTION: How did the months come to get their names?

ANSWER: Ancient calendars had become very confused when the Roman ruler Julius Caesar decided, in 46 B.C., to make a new one. He split the year into 12 months and adopted names as we now know them—except for August, which was named by another emperor. Here the meanings of Caesar's names.

January is from Janus, a Roman god with two faces, one looking forward, one backward. Janus symbolized the beginning of something. February is from Februus, a Roman feast of purification and preparation. The tempestuous month of March is well-named from Mars, god of war. April is also well-named from Aprilis, meaning to open. May is named from Maia, Roman goddess of spring; June from Juno, goddess of marriage. July was named by Julius Caesar for himself, when he revised the calendar. Later, the emperor Augustus named the next month August in a similar boastful spirit. September, actually the ninth month, had been the seventh in the older calendar, and the Romans went on using the name which came from "septem" or 7. In the same way, October is from 8, "octo." November from "novem" or 9, and December from "decem" meaning 10.

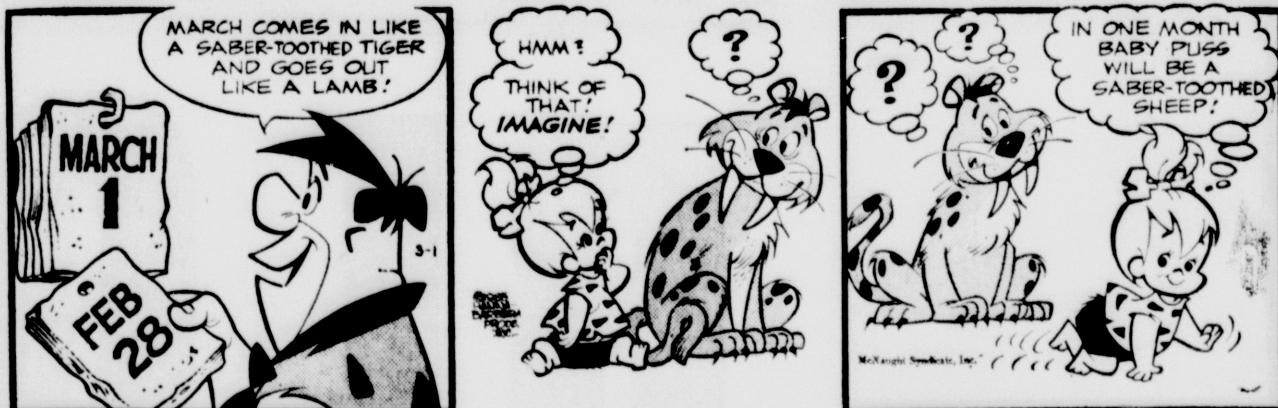

FOR YOU TO DO: Even with Caesar's revisions, the calendar is far from perfect; for example, the months may be from 28 to 31 days. A new calendar is being talked about, in which the days are more equal, but a new month will have to be added. Try to find out about this interesting new idea.

Rodney J. Phillips of St. Catharines, Ont., wins today's combined prize of Compton's Illustrated Science Dictionary plus $10 cash for this question. Mail yours on a postcard to Junior Editors in care of The Review.
